Gift of Colonies May Avert War

Mussolini Stated To Have Proposal For League Ruling

Report Says Italy's Price For Calling Off Invasion of Ethiopia Will Be Gift To Her By Other Powers of Territories in Africa

Britain Sending Troops to Malta

By ROGER D. GREENE.
Associated Press Staff Writer
London, Aug. 26.—Certain informed quarters said to-night Premier Mussolini may tell the League of Nations his price for calling off the threatened invasion of Ethiopia is a gift by other powers of colonies in Africa.

Mussolini's references to the colonial problem were noted in the Foreign Office, where the delicate colonial question has been under consideration since Reichsfuehrer Hitler demanded the return of some of Germany's lost territory.

INTERNATIONAL DISCUSSION
The British government was represented as believing the colonial problem is an international matter which can only be decided by the powers in joint conference, but there was no sign that Great Britain would permit any sudden negotiations forced by the present turn of events in Africa.

Circles in close touch with the Italian-Ethiopian dispute said Mussolini might endeavor to get the support of Hitler before making any demands for colonial gifts. Such action, they said, would be regarded as an effort to make the question international instead of individual.

CABINET MEETS
Rome, Aug. 26.—Informed sources said to-day that Premier Mussolini, now attending the military manoeuvres in the north, had called an extraordinary cabinet meeting in Bolzano for either to-night or tomorrow.

It was said the cabinet would consider the international situation as it develops on the Italian-Ethiopian crisis.

RUSSIA CALLED ON BY THE U.S. TO END ITS PROPAGANDA

RUSSIA HEARS BRITISH PROTEST

Associated Press
London, Aug. 26.—Reports were received to-day that Britain, Italy and Latvia had protested informally to Russia over the activities of the Third International before the United States protest was made in Moscow yesterday.

It was stated Britain made a verbal protest to the Soviet just before the close of the Seventh Congress August 20, and that was not the first British protest.
The British protest was informal and no publicity was given to it.

Washington, Aug. 26.—The future of Soviet-United States relations was thrown open to question in the minds of many observers to-day as the United States awaited a reply to its stern note protesting what it termed "flagrant violation" of Russian pledges.

Some observers read into the document an emphatic warning that American recognition of Russia might be withdrawn if the Russian government does not do all in its power to halt Communist activities in the United States.

Much appeared to depend on the nature of the reply which Moscow dispatches to Washington. It was believed that perhaps the Kremlin would await the return to the Russian capital of Maxim Litvinoff, Foreign Commissar, now in Geneva in connection with Italian-Ethiopian troubles.

ANGELL ON WAR MOVES

If Italy Fights Ethiopia English Author Sees British Intervention

By SIR NORMAN ANGELL
(Nobel Peace Prize Winner, 1933)
Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press
Northey Island, Maldon, Essex, Eng., Aug. 26.—The result of a war between Italy and Ethiopia, insofar as they affect Great Britain and America, can hardly be in doubt.

Italy would, of course, conquer Ethiopia, but not easily, and its subsequent occupation of the country will be extremely exhausting. Germany will in consequence have a free hand in Austria. Weakening Italy will be one step more toward that 24-establishment of the military hegemony of Europe through Germany which both Britain and America fought the Great War to frustrate.

MENACE TO DEMOCRACY
The menace to democracy will be infinitely greater than would have been involved in a victory for pre-war Germany. Another unchecked successful assertion of Fascist military power, coming after those made first by Japan and Germany—the latter having been able to defy the victors with complete impunity within a few years of their victory—will in fact

Italian King In Narrow Escape

Associated Press
Bolzano, Italy, Aug. 26.—King Victor Emmanuel escaped injury to-day on a precipitous mountain road in the army manoeuvres area.

The automobile in which he was riding narrowly missed a collision with another car coming down the steep slope. His Majesty was riding in the rear seat of an open touring car with other officers, on his way to the observation post, where he was to witness the manoeuvres.

His automobile swerved while it was climbing a steep curve. At the same time another car containing several newspapermen swept down close to it.

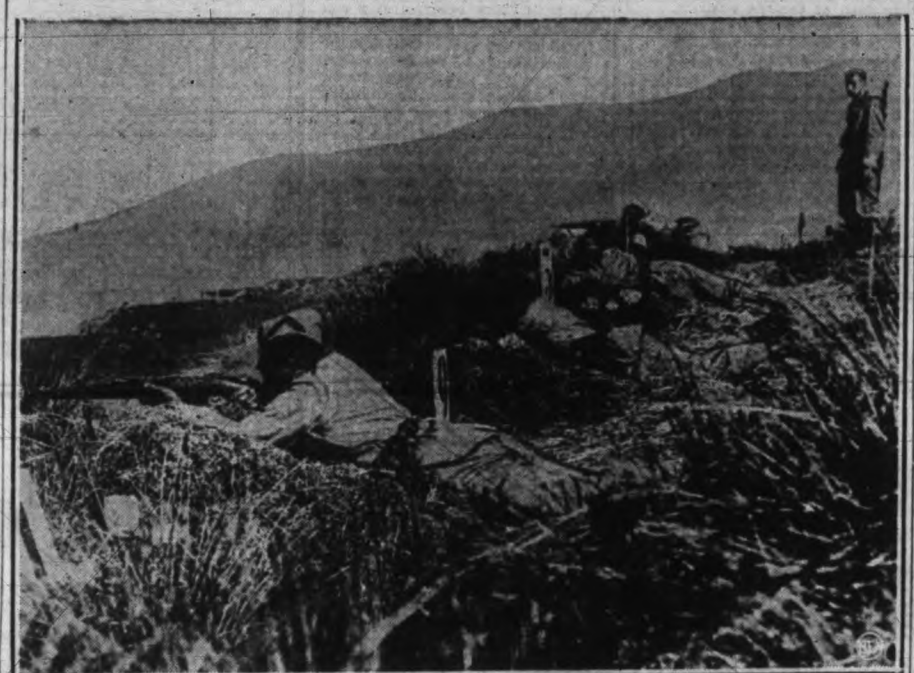

Only the most adroit steering on the part of both chauffeurs prevented an accident.

The King admonished the chauffeur of the newspapermen's car for reckless driving.

Confessed Kidnap Operator Tells How Plot Carried Out

At Trial of J. Bannion in London, Ont., M. McCordell Describes Scheming Which Preceded Abduction of John S. Labatt

Canadian Press
London, Ont., Aug. 26.—Michael McCordell, self-confessed kidnapper of John S. Labatt, testifying to-day at the preliminary hearing of Jack Bannion of Windsor, Ont., also charged with the abduction, said it was his "understanding" Louis McCaughey, general sales agent for Labatt's brewery, "gave the information about Mr. Labatt to Bannion."

It was then passed on to Ernest Rossi of Chicago. McCordell also declared David "Ted" Melner, now serving a fifteen-year penitentiary term for the kidnapping, heard in Detroit the discussion of plans and refused to have anything to do with the snatch. He said Melner stated he "didn't like" the proposition.

DISCUSSED IN 1931
McCordell said the plot was discussed as early as 1931 when he, with Rossi and Russell Knowles, went to London and saw Labatt sitting on

WOMAN DIES IN HOUSE FIRE

Miss Mabel F. Mason Victim of Blaze in North Vancouver

Canadian Press
North Vancouver, Aug. 26.—Trapped in her bedroom by flames, Miss Mabel F. Mason, 71, was burned to death to-day when the bungalow in which she resided was swept by fire. Her ninety-year-old father, Robert Mason, the only other occupant of the house, escaped.

Mr. Mason was awakened by smoke coming from his daughter's bedroom. After a futile effort to arouse her, he ran across the street to a neighbor's house, from where he summoned the fire department.

When firemen arrived, they found Miss Mason's room a mass of flames, which were breaking through the roof. Braving heat and smoke, they forced their way to her bed, near which they found the body.

The origin of the fire is not known. The blaze was confined to one section of the residence.

All Men of Ill-fated Fishing Craft Believed Lost in Storm Off Newfoundland

St. John's, Nfld., Aug. 26.—Crews of four schooners were feared lost to-day after a terrific gale had lashed the Newfoundland coast, and wreckage drifting ashore gave rise to anxiety for the safety of an unidentified steamship.

Six men—four of them brothers—were reported to have gone down with the Newfoundland schooner Walter off Trepassey at the height of the storm, Sunday. Capt. Butcher of Kingwell was in command, and with him were his four brothers and another seaman.

GEORGE BERNARD SCOTT

Prisoner Escapes; Officer Suspended

George Bernard Scott Jumps Police Guard at Jubilee Hospital; Was Charged in Robbery of D. O. Cameron Home; Constable G. L. Greenwood Suspended Pending Inquiry

George Bernard Scott, alias George Bernard, George Moore and Bernard McKay, who was awaiting trial here on a charge of participating in the robbery of $6,000 worth of jewels from the home of D. O. Cameron, 353 Gorge Road, escaped from the second floor of the Jubilee Hospital at 5:20 o'clock this morning.

Scott had been a patient at the hospital since his commitment for trial after the preliminary hearing of the case in the City Police Court a few weeks ago.

In connection with the escape, Chief of Police Heatley this morning announced the temporary suspension of Constable G. L. Greenwood, who was guarding the prisoner at the hospital. The police commission will hold an inquiry to determine the constable's future position.

Scott escaped during a momentary absence of the constable from the semi-private ward of the hospital. He climbed out the window in his bath robe and slippers, and reached the ground by the fire escape.

CLOTHES FOUND
Constable Greenwood later recovered the robe and slippers in the hospital grounds after the theft of a grey suit from another ward of the institution had been reported.

With the assistance of provincial, Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt police, an island-wide search was immediately organized for the fugitive, whom Chief Heatley described as a dangerous man with a criminal record.

Date Set For Province To Start Its Social Credit Exploration

JAIL CROWDING CAUSES CRISIS

Arrest of Transients Making Way East Causes Problem For B.C.

Overcrowding in British Columbia jails, a condition brought about to a great extent through the influx of transients to the province, is a matter which is giving concern to the British Columbia government.

It was intimated this morning that the province may have to take a stand where it will refuse to accept as prisoners transients who have been arrested by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police as they are found beating their way eastwards from British Columbia.

Scores of men so arrested have received jail sentences and the jail accommodation of the southern interior of the province has been strained beyond its capacity as a result.

To meet the situation it may be found necessary to protest to the department of justice at Ottawa, stating that it is impossible for British Columbia to provide the jail accommodation for men so sentenced, especially in view of the fact that the great influx of transients to the west has already added to British Columbia's burden.

The situation has become particularly pressing as the normal exodus from the west to the east has been arrested this year, and early in September an exodus of transients from the east to the west usually starts.

Attention of the federal government has been drawn to the fact that a position has been reached where British Columbia will be forced to refuse to accept transients on their way east or returning to the east who are arrested and sentenced to terms in British Columbia jails.

Launching of Social Credit Government Is Front Page News There

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, Aug. 26.—Major C. H. Douglas is ready to proceed to Alberta to advise the new government, holding that his contract with the ousted administration holds good under the new Social Credit regime of William Aberhart.

Returning to London to-day after a brief vacation Major Douglas told the Canadian Press: "I am a servant of the Alberta government. My two years' engagement was a government, not a party engagement. It still stands."

"I have not, however, had any request yet from Aberhart," Major Douglas, creator of the Social Credit system bearing his name, refused to comment on the sweeping victory of Aberhart and his Social Credit League in the provincial election last week. "It is a political matter," he remarked.

Man Long Known as Auto Manufacturer Dies in New York

Associated Press
New York, Aug. 26.—John N. Willys, a leader in the automobile industry for a quarter of a century and United States Ambassador to Poland in the Hoover administration, died early to-day at his summer home in the Bronx. He was sixty-one years old.

Stricken with a heart attack in May, he partially recovered and was stricken again last week. His condition became critical Friday.

Mrs. Willys, whom he married slightly more than a year ago, was in constant attendance. So was his only daughter, Mrs. Jose Delanda. Mr. Willys and his first wife, the former Isabel Van Wile, were divorced in Florida in July, 1934.

Willys was a native of Canadaigua, N.Y. At eighteen, forced to forego further schooling because of the death of his father, he started a

With Reid Government's Resignation in Hands of Lieut.-Governor, Aberhart's Followers Prepare to Hold Caucus and Officially Name Leader Who Will Become Premier

Cabinet Line-up Foreshadowed

Canadian Press
Edmonton, Aug. 26.—William Aberhart, B.A., leader of the Social Credit Party, has notified Hon. W. L. Walsh, Lieutenant-Governor, that he and the members of his cabinet will be ready to take office September 3, it was learned here to-day.

This, the first definite statement from Social Credit headquarters, follows close on the heels of the resignation of the Reid government. Mr. Aberhart demurred, pleading he was not yet officially leader of his party, when the Lieutenant-Governor "summoned" him Saturday afternoon. Developments over the week-end, however, and the decision to hold the Social Credit caucus Wednesday in Calgary evidently hastened Mr. Aberhart's acceptance.

"There is nothing to prevent Mr. Aberhart and his ministers from being sworn in September 3," Lieutenant-Governor Walsh said, pointing out there are plenty of precedents for leaders of parties being sworn in without actually holding a seat in the Legislature.

FROM CALGARY
Calgary, Aug. 26.—William Aberhart, who has advised Lieut.-Governor Walsh the Social Credit Party will be prepared to take over the government of Alberta September 3, expects to leave for Edmonton Wednesday, following a caucus here.

The Social Credit leader advised the Lieutenant-Governor he would be able to meet him in the capital Thursday.

Mr. Aberhart would not discuss the personnel of the new party's cabinet to-day. The matter has not been officially considered, he said.

RURAL CONSTITUENCY
"If the caucus agree he should accept the premiership, Mr. Aberhart said 'arrangements would be made for him to contest a seat in the country and not in Calgary as first reported.'

E. C. Manning, chief Aberhart aide, elected in Calgary, will not be asked to resign his seat to make way for his leader.

"If and when I take over the post of Premier, Mr. Manning will accompany me to Edmonton," Mr. Aberhart said.

Waterspout Hits Genoa; Kills Six

Damage to Docks and Shipping at Italian Port Estimated in Millions; at Least Fifty Persons Injured

Associated Press
Genoa, Italy, Aug. 26.—Rescue squadrons searched the waters of the harbor to-day for victims of yesterday evening's waterspout, which killed six persons and injured at least fifty others.

An early survey indicated damage to smaller shipping vessels and the havoc caused by the huge influx of water to the docks and wharves probably will run into millions. The largest vessels anchored in the harbor suffered relatively slight damage.

The liner Conte di Savoia was torn from its moorings and swept down the harbor. The vessel was saved from crashing into a wall and other nearby boats by tug.

The San Giorgio Pier, at which a number of ocean liners were berthed, was hardest hit. All electric cranes along the pier were demolished. The towering waterspout made its appearance in the midst of an electrical storm.

All outgoing trains and steamers were watched, while patrols maintained constant vigil on the island highways. Descriptions of the fugitive were broadcast over station CPTC this morning, and provincial police notified all stations in the province of the escape.

AWAITING TRIAL

Scott was awaiting trial in the County Court on a charge of unlawful possession of a safe stolen from Mr. Cameron's home on the night of July 15, which contained jewelry valued at $5,000. He was jointly charged with John M. Card, and both had been committed for trial after electing for hearing in a higher court. They were arrested by city detectives within twenty-four hours after the crime was committed.

According to police, Scott is well known to the Canadian police, and has a record extending back to 1925. He has served prison terms on various charges, including one of breaking out of jail at Golden, B.C. Other convictions are recorded against him in Vancouver and Edmonton.

DESCRIPTION GIVEN

The following description has been broadcast by police, who are seeking public assistance in an effort to locate Scott: Age about twenty-seven; weight between 135 and 140; dark complexion; dark brown eyes; black or dark brown hair; height 5ft. 7in.; light build; hair usually worn pretty long in front and brushed back; manner and speech quiet; may be wearing grey suit, as one was stolen from the hospital; scars, one centre forehead, one upper lip right, one back of middle finger on left hand; birth mark on right hip; tattoo; right shoulder American Eagle and three stars, U.S.A. 1929, heart and violet left shoulder, maple leaf with Canada.

livered to the Soviet Union his government's "emphatic protest" against the Seventh Congress here of the Communist International. The silence of the press was reflected in the attitude of official quarters, where no comment was offered on the bluntness to Vice-Commissar Krestinsky, acting in charge of foreign affairs, which said these activities were a "flagrant violation" of the pledge made by Soviet Russia as a condition of recognition by the United States to pledge to prohibit activities in its territory aimed at changing the political or social order of the United States.

The absence of Maxim Litvinoff, Commissar of Foreign Affairs, who made the pledge on behalf of his government, was believed partly responsible for the official silence. M. Litvinoff is in Geneva.

In charging the activities of the recent Seventh Congress of the Communist International involved interference with internal affairs of the United States, Bullitt's note warned that if the U.S.S.R. "is unwilling or unable to take appropriate measures to prevent further acts" the American government "anticipates the most serious consequences."

The protest was accompanied by the text of M. Litvinoff's letter to President Roosevelt on November 16, 1933, promising no effort to spread Communism.

Some speakers at the Congress of the Communist International indicated the eventual aim of the Communist Party in the United States was establishment of a Soviet Government. The Congress generally approved sentiment for a union with Socialist groups in a "united" fight against Fascism the world over.

Lens New Hope For Those Nearly Blind

Columbia University Scientist Demonstrates Success of Recently Perfected Device

New York, Aug. 26.—Twenty thousand children in schools for the blind may be returned soon to the world of vision through the aid of a newly-created "microvision" lens, according to Dr. William Feinbloom, research fellow in optometry at Columbia University.

Dr. Feinbloom, creator of the lens, told of the aid to vision at the annual meeting of the American Academy of Optometry. The miracle of restored, or partly restored, sight may become the experience not only of the sightless school children, but of 120,000 blind persons in institutions in the United States through availability of the new lens, Dr. Feinbloom said.

Dr. Feinbloom brought to the platform four "patients," who were 95 per cent blind and could perceive only a vague difference between brilliant light and jet darkness. With the microvision lenses they sat down and read newspapers out loud.

TEAR GAS

London, Ont., Aug. 26 (Canadian Press).—Abductors of John Labatt planned to subdue their victim with tear gas if necessary, it was disclosed today by Crown Attorney Norman F. Newton.

Mr. Newton said police had discovered a half-dozen tear gas shells to fit one of the three large revolvers found on a golf course near the Muskoka hideout where the London brewer was held captive three days.

London, Aug. 26 (Canadian Press).—Michael McCordell, the "three fingered Abe" of the J. S. Labatt kidnapping case, told a crowded court today of all the long-laid plans for abduction of the London brewer, as one of the men he understood was to share in the ransom money.

Jack Basil Bannion, former Windsor runner, named by McCordell as one of the principals in the plot, was committed by Magistrate C. W. Hawkshaw for trial at the autumn session next October. General Nicholson, who admitted he drove the car from Muskoka to Toronto to release Labatt, was remanded for one week at the request of Crown Attorney Norman F. Newton.

reduce the remaining great democratic states of Europe, France and Great Britain, to something like impotence. The position of the British Empire will be weakened in any case by the planting of an "expansionist" and a "democratic" state, possessed of a particular political morality which inspires an Italian policy, along a line vital to imperial communication connecting the headquarters of the Blue Nile, and establishing a new frontier marching 100 miles with the frontiers of British colonies.

ADDING TO FLAMES

A still more important consideration is that Italian aggression on the only remaining independent African state will add the most inflammable fuel to the flames of Asiatic and African nationalism which must sooner or later place the whole imperial structure in danger. The intensification of race feeling will certainly have American repercussions.

Sooner or later Britain will be compelled to intervene. As guardian and chief shareholder of the Suez Canal, the position of facilitating and making profit out of an act of aggression which defies all international rights and which also undermines Britain's own security, will become too absurd for indefinite acceptance by the British people.

"Intervention" must not be read as naval or military operations. It may consist of closing the canal, leaving the next step to Italy. America will not be dragged in in the sense that she was dragged in in 1917. But sooner or later she will be compelled to co-operate with other states in withholding from Italy not merely munitions in the last stage of manufacture but those things indispensable to war.

LEAGUE COVENANT

Britain could have stopped the whole drift toward war if she had been given a lead modeled on the action of American statesmen. Something over a century ago, in other words, she had declared a principle of the covenant to be the Monroe Doctrine. The covenant declares a state in the circumstances of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute which goes to war with one member of the League goes to war with all.

London, Aug. 26.—The War Office announced today that the fixed defenses at Aden, Arabia, as well as at Malta, would be brought up to strength already approved.

Troops were being assembled at Southampton for dispatch to those two posts—key points along the "lifeline of empire," which begins at Gibraltar and ends at Aden after the Suez Canal passage.

Confirming that Malta and Aden defenses would be reinforced with units of Royal Artillery, engineers and signal corps, the War Office, however, specified that these were the only moves to be made now.

TROOPS TO ENHANCE

London, Aug. 26.—The British War Office has ordered 1,200 troops to embark in the steamship Neurula at Southampton for Malta in the next few days to reinforce garrisons at British key points in the Mediterranean.

In Malta, at the entrance to the Mediterranean, public air raid stations have been ordered built and the population has been instructed in the matter of safeguards in the event of gas attacks.

The British Mediterranean fleet has been ordered to leave Thursday to take up positions where it will be within swift striking distance of the Suez Canal.

Spain is worried about her colonial possessions in Africa. She fears an uprising of Moroccan tribesmen may result from the general anti-European feeling in sympathy with Ethiopia. Spain has reinforced its Gibraltar garrison and placed dumps of munition there ready for speedy transport to Spanish Morocco.

Addis Ababa, Aug. 26.—The Italian Legation today began the removal of its archives from the Ethiopian capital as thousands of native men, women and children started to evacuate the city.

The natives began leaving in accordance with Emperor Haile Selassie's verbal order of last Saturday, but they did not wait for his suggestion that they depart seven days after war might be declared.

Already most of the Italians who were resident in Addis Ababa had left.

The Italian Legation dispatched sixty cases of official archives to Djibouti by rail today. The action was regarded as the first indication of Italian official evacuation.

The Belgian minister asked Emperor Haile Selassie's permission for all the foreign legations to bring in emergency troops as the British are doing for the protection of these diplomatic missions.

The Ethiopian government today warned the foreign legations that the inventories of property the legations ordered their nationals to prepare—extensively with a view to possible indemnification in the event of damage by war—will not be recognized by Ethiopia.

Confederation Test Is Seen

Quebec Premier Says Stability May Be Menaced By Alberta Creditors

Canadian Press

Quebec, Aug. 26.—A warning of the stability of Confederation may be menaced by such movements as Social Credit and a prediction there will be new elections in Alberta before six months were voted to-day by Premier Taschereau of Quebec in commenting on the victory of William Aberhart's followers in Thursday's provincial election in Alberta.

"It is not up to me to interfere in the affairs of the other provinces, but the situation which has arisen as a result of the victory of the Social Credit party in the recent Alberta elections constitutes an economic problem which affects all of Canada," Mr. Taschereau said. "Citizens of Alberta must understand it is useless for them to count on the province of Quebec and Ontario to finance the various projects which they intend to put into execution."

"I think, nevertheless, that the results are an excellent thing. Here are people coming into office with all kinds of theories which have never yet been tested. It will be good for the people to see for themselves just where these theories lead. I am convinced new elections will be held in Alberta before six months as, otherwise, I believe the province will find itself in bankruptcy."

Thomas Edison Dies Suddenly

Son of Late Inventor Suffers Heart Attack in Springfield, Mass., Hotel

Associated Press

Springfield, Mass., Aug. 26.—Thomas A. Edison, eldest son of the late inventor, died in a hotel here yesterday of coronary thrombosis. He was fifty-nine years old.

With his chauffeur and W. H. Hildebrand, vice-president and traffic manager of the Thomas A. Edison Company, Mr. Edison was returning to his home at East Orange, N.J., after a visit at the summer home of his half brother, Charles Edison, at Lake Success, N.Y.

The three registered at the hotel Friday evening. Mr. Edison using the name "J. J. Griffin." A short time later he suffered a heart attack. The hotel physician remained in attendance until death occurred at 2 a.m. yesterday.

The body was sent to East Orange.

A member of the family explained Mr. Edison used an assumed name in hotels to avoid attracting attention. Mr. Edison was head of the research engineering department in the Thomas A. Edison Company's plant at West Orange, N.J. He was one of three children of his father's first marriage, to the late Mary Stillwell.

Edison was born at Menlo-Park, N.J. He entered research work on internal combustion engines in a private laboratory at Burlington, N.J. He became associated with his father's company seventeen years ago.

in London. For the moment, indeed, he has displaced Ethiopia. "Five pounds a month for all, Premier explains, run another seven columns in Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express. This time it was an interview telephoned through from Alberta to New York.

Aberhart told the News-Chronicle that steps are already being taken to prevent "expatriation from depressed areas" flocking into Alberta, to claim the $25 monthly "dividend." This will be paid only to those who have been resident in Alberta for at least a whole year.

"It will be impossible for any person to establish citizenship under the present law," he said. "Our object in introducing this dividend is to ensure that all our people shall be adequately housed, fed and clothed. It is a provision against destitution, unemployment and poverty."

"If there is a danger of bankruptcy, then the dividend will not be paid. We do not propose to ruin Alberta. But that danger will not arise."

TO DEVELOP RESOURCES

He declared the first aim of the new government—which he is expected to head—will be to develop the huge coal, oil, salt and other mineral resources of the province. He sharply denied reports that depositors were lining up outside Alberta banks to withdraw their savings. "There is no flight of capital, no run on the banks," he added.

The interviewer asked: "Are you yourself confident in the support of the bankers?" "Some of them," he replied, "were directly opposed to us when our plans were first put forward. But now we have assurance of co-operation. If the banks should refuse to carry out our policy by placing insurmountable obstacles in the way, we would immediately found our own banking system."

MORE PURCHASING POWER

To the London Daily Express Mr. Aberhart explained: "In order to get more goods distributed we will increase the people's purchasing power, by giving every individual who is willing to work a credit book in which he will enter an amount of about $25 a month. It will be just as though he deposited that amount in the bank. "He gets certificates to cover the $25. With these he can buy goods and

DOLLAR STILL FIRM

The Canadian dollar so far has been materially unaffected on the London market as a result of the elections. "There is no reason to expect any fundamental change in the situation in Canada as a whole," comments The Financial News in its financial notes. "The Province of Alberta in itself is not in a position to inflate, since the issue of notes is in the hands of the Dominion government."

"Although the Social Credit Party, encouraged by its success in Alberta, will make an effort to obtain control of other provinces and the Dominion government, there is no likelihood of success in the near future. . . . It would be a mistake, however, to under-estimate the significance of the Alberta victory. It is the first time the electorate of a community has voted in favor of fundamental reform of the monetary system."

"However, ill-conceived and impracticable the scheme concerned may be, the overwhelming majority of the Alberta electorate has declared, in preference to the existing system, that there are indications the public in other parts of Canada is also in favor of some form of radical monetary or economic reform."

DOMINION DECIDES

The London Times editorially commented that currency and monetary policy in Canada are not a provincial, but a Dominion concern. "It is not likely, therefore, that the extraordinary victory gained by the recently-formed Social Credit League in Alberta will be followed by an attempt to give practical application to the theories of Major Douglas."

Aberhart's victory, The Times added, was significant as showing the state of mind of the western farmers, "and of their impatience with the existing financial and economic system. He has been called the Father Coughlin of the Plains. Like the Detroit priest, he broadcasts with fanatical fervor a strange mixture of emotional religion and equally emotional economics. He has gathered together a great following which regards him almost as an inspired prophet."

"In ordinary times he would have little or no political influence. But the farmers in the country and the unemployed in the towns are finding the orthodox political practitioner unable to cure their ills, and are in the mood to listen to anyone who assures them with sufficient confidence that he knows what's wrong and how to put it right."

COOL HEADS NEEDED

"The role of the electors of the province of Alberta," said The Financial Times editorially, "favors social credit. It draws attention to the fact that cool heads and steady hands are needed to guide the world back to prosperity. "At times like the present when new conditions are placing a heavy burden on the well-tried methods of the past, the most fanciful theories can attract a following. Low prices and the presence of a huge wheat surplus constitute a grave problem for Canada, and it is not surprising that impatience should be felt at the slowness of world conditions to revive and bring relief to the hard-pressed primary producer."

him when he could come to Alberta to assist the new government, had not received a reply to-day.

Calgary, Aug. 26.—The Alberta Social Credit League's fifty-seventh-year-old leader, William Aberhart, says he "feels like a young horse with the bit in his teeth" as he prepares to get ahead with his economic reforms.

Confident after his party's smashing victory in the provincial election last Thursday on a platform with a major plank of a monthly "basic dividend" to all bona-fide citizens, the Calgary high school principal asked Albertans to be patient.

Mr. Aberhart, in his regular Sunday address at the Prophetic Bible Institute, said efforts would be made to bring Major C. H. Douglas, British initiator and apostle of Social Credit theories, to Alberta as soon as possible to introduce the reforms, Mr. Aberhart promised.

Premier and Provincial Secretary—Mr. Aberhart.
Provincial Treasurer and Minister of Social Credit—Ernest C. Mahoning, Calgary.
Minister of Education—S. A. G. Barnes.
Minister of Lands and Mines—O. G. Devenish, Calgary, provided it is decided to find a seat for him in a by-election.
Attorney-General—J. W. Huggill, E.C., Calgary.
Minister of Health—Dr. W. W. Cross.
Minister of Public Works—Fred Anderson, Calgary, or H. O. Wright, Lethbridge.
Minister of Agriculture—James Hansen, Taber.
Minister without portfolio—Mrs. W. W. Rogers, Ponoka.
Minister of Trade and Industry—R. E. Ansley, Leduc.
Minister of Municipal Affairs—Mayor W. A. Fallow, Vermilion.
Mr. Huggill is a Calgary barrister. Mrs. Rogers has been one of Mr. Aberhart's leading aides for some time. She captured the Ponoka seat from J. E. Brownlee, former Premier.

Scottish Laird Dies in Montreal

John de L. MacDonald Was Twenty-second Chief of House of Keppoch

Montreal, Aug. 26.—A member of an old Scottish-Canadian family, John de L. MacDonald, twenty-second chief of the MacDonnells of Keppoch, died in a hospital here Saturday, aged seventy-seven. For the last twenty-five years of his life he lived at Alexandria, Ont.

Mr. MacDonald was a grandson of the late John MacDonald of Garth, last surviving partner of the old North West Fur Company. He was a grand nephew of the late Hon. William MacGillivray, chief partner of the company.

The house of Keppoch descends from Alastair Carrach of the Isles, Lord of Lochaber, third son of John Lord of the Isles and of the Princess Margaret of Scotland, daughter of Robert II and granddaughter of Robert Bruce.

THREE INFANTS DIE IN FIRE

Robinson Home in Tulameen Burns Down While Parents Away

Tulameen, B.C., Aug. 26.—The three infant children of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Robinson were burned to death in a fire which destroyed their home here Saturday. They were Bernice, four, Pat, two, and the baby, aged about one year.

Mr. Robinson was out of town at the time and Mrs. Robinson had lighted the fire in the kitchen stove and gone to the barn to milk the cow, leaving Bernice in the kitchen and the two smaller children in bed.

Returning fifteen minutes later, she found the dwelling in flames. The mother dashed through the flames and rescued the baby, but found it impossible to make another trip into the house to reach her other children. The baby died shortly afterwards.

No help was at hand owing to the early hour and Mrs. Robinson ran to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Marks, who returned with her, accompanied by other neighbors. The fire was beyond control by that time.

BIG LIBERAL OPPORTUNITY

Hon. W. D. Euler Says Redistribution of Wealth Will Be New Government's Greatest Task

Galt, Ont., Aug. 26.—Greatest responsibility to be placed on the Liberal Party, should it be chosen to form Canada's next government, would be redistribution of wealth, and if the party did not make a reasonable success of this redistribution it would have failed, Hon. W. D. Euler, former Minister of National Revenue, told a Liberal picnic here on Saturday.

Mr. Euler said that after the Alberta election all eyes were turned on the Dominion campaign and there had never been a time except during the Great War when the need of sane, progressive leadership was more evident.

The multiplicity of parties had brought about a condition in which promises flew about and he was glad Liberal Leader Mackenzie King was not likely to outbid the other parties.

Everybody was for reform and the Liberals did not yield to Mr. Woodsworth, C.C.F. leader, or Mr. Stevens, Reconstruction Party leader, in the matter of accomplishing real reform.

Recalling Mr. Stevens had promised to pay off the national debt in twenty-five years by developing mining and other natural resources, Mr. Euler said more money was being put in the ground in search of gold than was ever taken out. Also the resources in mines and in the lakes were under control of the provincial governments.

A charge of usurpation of power was hurled at the Conservative government, which Mr. Euler contended, was remaining in office three months more than the period for which it was elected.

CONDUCT INQUIRY INTO CAR TARIFFS

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—Withdrawal of the regulation in effect since 1931 providing discount for duty purposes on automobiles should not be more than 20 per cent has been postponed in order that the tariff board, now conducting an inquiry into the question of tariffs on cars may extend its investigation into the field of discounts. Announcement to this effect was made Saturday.

Early this year Finance Minister Rhodes referred to the tariff board for investigation the whole question of tariff on automobiles. A recent order-in-council would have repeated the regulation fixing the minimum discount for duty purposes at 20 per cent as from October 1, the date when many new models come on the market.

When it became clear that the tariff board could not complete its investigation until after October 1, it was decided to amend the order so as to postpone its operations until the report of the tariff board has been made.

FRUIT FINE IS IMPOSED

Creston, B.C., Orchardist Shipped Cherries to Firm Not Under Board

Nelson, B.C., Aug. 26.—For shipping fruit contrary to regulations of the B.C. Tree Fruit Board, John G. Chernoff, a local Creston orchardist, was on Saturday fined $25 and costs by Stipendiary Magistrate E. Mallandaine. Mr. Chernoff did not contest the case, admitting his guilt after the regulation of the Marketing Act had been explained to him by the presiding magistrate.

The shipment complained of was twelve cases of cherries sent to a firm in Kimberley through one of the four selling agencies at Creston, which have licenses from the tree fruit board.

The decision is an important one, as it establishes the legal status of the tree fruit board regulations, which prohibit individuals selling their own fruit. It is claimed this is the first case of the kind in the province.

MAN KILLS SELF; WOMAN INJURED

Kirkland Lake, Ont., Aug. 26.—What was presumed by police to have been a suicide and attempted murder occurred a mile east of here yesterday in the death of Robert Kennedy and the wounding of Mrs. Annie Jackson, his companion.

Kennedy ended his life by exploding a stick of dynamite. Mrs. Jackson suffered injuries which may prove fatal.

Mrs. Jackson, although seriously hurt, retained consciousness for a short time. "He told me to come close to him and I heard a shot," police quoted her as saying in a few brief moments she was conscious.

President Gives Call to Youth

Young Democrats of U.S. Hear Roosevelt Urge Progressive Moves

Milwaukee, Aug. 26.—Young Democrats were on their way home to-day to fulfill their pledge of renewed loyalty to President Roosevelt by consummating a programme designed to enlist the youthful voters in support for the United States elections of 1936.

The two-day national convention of the Young Democratic Clubs of America ended Saturday evening with the 1,500 delegates shouting praise for the President's message to the young people of the country, a speech broadcast to the convention hall from Washington.

Delegates listened intently to the presidential message urging the youth of the country to "unite and challenge any faults of the old order."

The only interruption from the floor was laughter when the President referred to those who "asserted the nation was 'going to the dogs.'"

PRINCIPLES SACRED

"Rules are not necessarily sacred—principles are," the President said. "The methods of the old order are not, as some would have you believe, above the challenge of youth."

Hitting again and again at those he said were "united in standing still on the same spot," he spoke in general terms of a need to improve social conditions, health and security, financial and economic machinery and government.

"Facts are relentless," he said. "We must adjust our ideas to the facts to-day."

Marines Mount Palace Guard

Naval Infantry at Buckingham Palace For First Time in 300 Years

London, Aug. 26.—For the first time in their 300 years of existence the Royal Marines—the "jollies" as the man-in-the-street affectionately calls them—have received the privilege of mounting guard outside Buckingham Palace.

On September 17 the familiar red-coated guardsmen with towering black bearskins on their heads will defer to the marines in the blue tunics and white pith helmets of their full dress. But the elaborate ceremony of changing the guard will be carried out with exactly the same precision.

For weeks past the marines practiced, determined that while the Brigade of Guards is away on manoeuvres, London's royal guard shall be mounted in the traditional way.

Saturday the marines mounted the guard in the courtyard of St. James's Palace instead of at Buckingham Palace, as the court is out of London.

In September the guards will return from Aldershot, and the marines will bid London farewell.

Stone Declines To Write Column

Hollywood, Aug. 26.—An offer that he write a daily opinion, to take the place of the daily offering of the late Will Rogers, was made Saturday to and declined by Fred Stone, noted actor and close friend of the actor-philosopher. The offer was made by Charles Driscoll, representing the syndicate which formerly handled Rogers' writings.

"Will could go on for anybody, take anybody's place and make the show better," said Stone. "But no one in the world could go on for Will Rogers or even attempt to take his place. I would not even think of trying to write for Will Rogers."

Oregon Man Is Killed in Alberta

Pincher Creek, Alta., Aug. 26.—Edward C. Cuddington of Portland, Ore., suffered fatal injuries when the automobile in which he was driving plunged into a shallow ditch near here. Pincher Creek is in southeastern Alberta about sixty miles north of the international boundary.

The accident occurred while Cuddington was traveling to his wheat farm at Winnifred, Alta., late Saturday. He was brought to hospital here, but died soon after being admitted.

ALASKA LAKE IS EMPTYING ITSELF

Waters of Lake George Break Ice Barrier and Flow Toward Sea

Anchorage, Alaska, Aug. 26.—This land of the midnight sun and the midday darkness is the setting to-day for another unusual and interesting phenomenon.

Described by seafarers as the "only one of its kind and one of the wonders of the world," Lake George, a perpetual motion affair, has begun to empty itself and strike off for the sea.

Although a large body of water—twenty-six miles long, two to four miles wide and 100 to 200 feet deep—Lake George lies almost hidden in a mountain range at the head of Knik River, fifty miles inland.

It is fed by glaciers and springs from the rock-hewn mountains, eroded through the years by mighty rivers of ice. At the mouth of the lake lies Knik Glacier, miles in extent. This dams up the inflowing water, brought down in great quantities during the late spring and summer, until it finally trickles over the huge barrier and begins to cut its way.

GREAT FLOOD

Once the water starts over the glacier, placid Lake George releases its pent-up energy, and tears away at the icy door until the water bursts forth in one great flood down a long mountain stairway into a nine-mile gorge.

In its haste to reach Cook Inlet and the Pacific, Lake George, as the water finally crumbles the ice barrier with huge chunks of ice, some as large as three-story buildings, say those who have witnessed the sight, boulders of a similar size and great trees, five to six feet in diameter.

The "dumping" movement usually begins in August and sometimes continues until mid-September.

After the lake virtually is empty and the cool weather sets in, old Knik Glacier starts its mountain-shaking movement across the end of the canyon, closing its completely again. Water from springs, glacial seepage, snow and rainfall fill the great empty bowl to overflowing and the self-emptying process begins anew.

The strange cycle of accumulation and elimination—year in and year out—continues and has continued from time unknown.

WE ENGINEER EVERY SAFETY FACTOR INTO OUR CARS except two — ROAD AND DRIVER

This advertisement is the tenth of a series, pointing out how you can meet us half-way in making Canada's streets and highways safer.

How to AVOID SKIDDING

EVERYONE who drives a car knows how dangerous a skid can be when roads are wet and slippery. Let's imagine we are riding along with one of General Motors' expert Proving Ground drivers—and see how he uses the brakes to avoid this hazard.

First of all, he presses the brake pedal very lightly, and releases it almost at once. Then he presses again and releases quickly. By a series of short, moderate brake applications—instead of one violent jab—he gradually reduces speed and stops in a straight line. And very important, he doesn't press down the clutch pedal at all until the car is almost stopped—until, in fact, it is necessary to avoid "stalling" the engine.

This safe way to avoid skidding may not be new to you. But if it is, why not try it yourself, next time you're driving on wet streets?

3 REASONS
Why General Motors Cars Are Easier to Control

LOOKING at today's motor cars, you see several new engineering advancements which render car-control easier and surer. The best place to look for them is in a General Motors car, because there you find them all combined.

Balanced weight, for example, helps you avoid skidding because it makes for easier steering—smoother braking action—and roadability that spells comfort as well as stability.

Knee-Action is safer than the conventional front axle, because ruts and bumps in the road don't affect steering or braking—just as they don't jar you up and down in your seat.

And the weatherproof brakes you find on a General Motors car operate just as smoothly and powerfully on a wet, rainy day as in fine, dry weather.

But all we could tell you isn't one-two-three with driving a General Motors car yourself. Call in at your dealer's and enjoy a drive today.

ALBERTA'S ECONOMIC CLINIC

AFTER THE FIRST GASP OF SURPRISE, the general reaction of Canadians to the result of the Alberta election seems to have been a profound concern. "If Alberta can vote to-day for an acute form of economic insanity," most thinking men must have said to themselves, "what will the rest of the country vote for to-morrow?" This is probably the popular way of looking at Alberta's wild leap in the dark, but we believe it is the wrong way.

On the contrary, the very fact that Alberta has gone off the deep end, diving after a magical promise of $25 a month, is the best guarantee that the other provinces will do nothing of the sort. There will be no opportunity for the development of a Social Credit government in any other part of Canada for several years. In that time the country will be able to sit back and watch Mr. Aberhart trying to pull his $140,000,000 rabbit out of the hat. It will be a valuable experiment, a kind of clinical examination of Social Credit which we can all watch at leisure. By the time Mr. Aberhart has completed this gigantic conjuring trick, we believe that the rest of the country will have seen enough to keep it from following Alberta's example.

On the whole, we should say that Alberta's experiences in the next year or two will be a priceless warning to the Canadian people—if they are somewhat inconvenient to Alberta, that is Alberta's business. It has voted for Aberhart and a theory of Social Credit which even Major Douglas, the founder of Social Credit, has repudiated. Now Alberta must take the consequences.

But in that case they will do more to keep the Canadian people from economic madness than all the warnings of statesmen and all the advice of economists. Unless Mr. Aberhart can work miracles in defiance alike of the constitution of Canada and the ordinary laws of nature, then Alberta is going to perform a great patriotic service by making itself the horrible example among the provinces, an unforgettable lesson to all others.

The chief danger of Aberhartism, we should think, is not that it will start a landslide of fiscal lunacy but that it will tend to discredit all efforts to reform and modernize our credit and monetary system. At this time both Canada and the United States, through increased governmental control of banking, are about to embark on far-reaching changes in this field. Such changes are necessary and inevitable, but they will be hampered undoubtedly by the hostility of those who fear that the increased welfare of the public will mean their private loss.

WHERE PUBLICITY WILL SCORE

SIR NORMAN ANGELL WROTE "THE Great Illusion" a few years before the Great War and he brought down upon his head a heap of ridicule. He had dared to predict that armies and navies might win all the battles on land and sea and yet lose them economically. The history of the last seventeen years illustrates how sound he was in his theory. The Allies—called the Associated Nations—actually lent money to Germany with which they might repay their obligations to them for having beaten the Germanic Alliance.

Sir Norman Angell comes back again to-day with the suggestion that a war between Ethiopia and Italy would involve Great Britain. He points out that "sooner or later Britain will be compelled to intervene." The reason is obvious. Great Britain is the guardian and chief shareholder of the Suez Canal—and he goes on to say: "The position of facilitating and making profit out of an act of aggression which defies all international rights, and which also undermines Britain's own security, will become too absurd for indefinite acceptance by the British people."

There is one bright spot about this controversy—a great deal of publicity. Before the Sarajevo affair in 1914, European nations were not talking war. Peace was assured for all time—at least it seemed to be.

So it may be that the amount of publicity which has been given to the controversy between Addis Ababa and Rome will prevent a war which would inevitably involve the whole world.

RUMORS ABOUT ROOSEVELT

TO THE QUESTION, "CAN ROOSEVELT be re-elected in 1936?" there was only one answer a year ago. Probably no thinking American doubted then that the President would get his second term without serious difficulty. But in the year many things have happened. The administration has been shaken by a series of formidable shocks. Some of its highest hopes have failed, some of its most promising experiments are in ruins. All over the United States to-day, the newspapers tell us, men are asking themselves whether Roosevelt is so certain of re-election after all.

Much is being made by Roosevelt enemies of the rumor that he is slipping. Some of them have spent huge sums to promote the idea. One enterprising industry, through its lobbyists, actually started a whispering campaign to convince the people that the President was losing his reason. But on the whole, the legend of his decline is probably exaggerated.

That his administration does not command the same overwhelming support as in the spring of 1933 is obvious. The President has antagonized powerful groups on the extreme right and the extreme left of politics. He has disappointed millions of citizens who had counted upon his cheery smile to perform miracles. But what alternative have the enemies of Roosevelt to offer?

The criticism of his policies has never crystallized into any other policy. The Republican party has offered nothing but a vague groan and the purely political slogan of "Save the Constitution," which, however, is not edible. On the other side is the lunatic fringe, with the gibbering figure of Senator Long, whose economics, like our own Mr. Aberhart's, offer everything to everybody but do not include any method of paying for it. To outsiders it would seem that the enemies of Roosevelt will have to offer something better than this, they will have to discover a candidate more attractive than any now in the field, if they are to win next year.

Besides, the rumor of Roosevelt's eclipse overlooks a vast body of silent support from obscure people who are never heard of. Farmers who have benefited from increased prices and the payments of the A.A.A.; workers who have found their wages cut with the collapse of the N.R.A.; some 20,000,000 of people who are receiving government relief allowances in one form or another—they are not likely to be as upset about Roosevelt's programme as the financiers, the large industrialists and the larger owners of wealth.

However right or wrong the programme may be, it is bound to attract a great tide of votes when the plain man finally faces its alternatives at the polls. In these times almost anything can happen to a government or a statesman in a year, but at the moment the President is probably more secure than any elected ruler in the world.

THE LAST WEEK OF SUMMER

A CERTAIN MELANCHOLY RATHER dims these final days of August, despite their bright sunshine and that rich unequalled feeling of maturity which hangs on them. For, though we may try to dodge the grim fact by refusing to look at the calendar, we all know that this is the last week of summer.

September may prove the finest month of the year—it should not have much trouble in surpassing its two immediate predecessors—but with the passing of Labor Day the care-free holiday season will be over for most of us. The children, now making the most of their last spell of freedom, will be going back to school next week. The summer cottages will be closed for another year. The family will be back to town to find the lawn brown for lack of water and the sink piled high with the dishes that father forgot to wash while he was basking by himself. The glorious gypsy days of summer will be gone.

Taking him by and large, the summer of 1935 has been a mean and treacherous fellow, of a moody, chill and shifty disposition. You could not depend on him for a week at a time. He scowled at you for days on end out of a dull and angry sky. He broke out once or twice into a withering heat, but hardly had you begun to acquire a coat of tan than his smile disappeared and you had to put on a sweater. He seemed to need most of June and July to learn his place in the parade of the seasons and make up his mind to act as summer at all.

But he has reformed at last. He has evidently repented of his early indiscretions and is trying to make up to us now for all his unfaithfulness and bad temper. Even if it be a reform long delayed, a death-bed repentance, it makes a splendid spectacle, this last act of summer. The skies never seemed quite as blue as they were last week-end, the air as clear and sparkling. The gardens, too, are bursting out with their last rush of bloom, the brightest and most lavish of the year. The tomato is red on the vine, the marrow and pumpkin sleek and fat in the sunshine, the corn fairly bursting the sheaves, the red apples heavy on the overloaded branch. With a final spurt of energy, summer is winding up his immortal work.

Make the most of his last days. However he may have erred in his youth, his old age is genial, warm and filled with a great friendliness. You may have gumbled at him for the last two months, but you will be sorry to see him go.

THE FIRST SUCCESS

Fortune smiled on him and he thought she'd smile forever. Thought he'd never have to be strong again or clever.

Fortune held him by the hand. Failure was behind him. Now he merely had to stand. Where success could find him.

With the first fight, blow by blow, All is won, he reckoned. This was what he didn't know; Harder is the second.

Fortune came and called his name. As the tides were shifting. Found him on the oars of fame Indolently drifting.

Fortune left him pitiable. There without a penny; But that little first success Ruins, oh, so many!

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

TO THE LAST, BEST FARTHING
The Detroit Free Press

The Treasury Department announces it may coin a one-cent piece. It seems the tax collectors want to get more than our last cent.

TOO MUCH
The Toronto Globe

Pity the plight of the morning Conservative organ in Toronto as a consequence of its publishing yesterday a despatch from Ottawa announcing that the Premier had informed his associates in London that "his death was satisfactory, and that he had enjoyed his voyage across the Atlantic." Had the organ in mind merely a political demise, trouble enough would have followed, but this cruel method of putting its leader out of business altogether should bring up its shoulders the sting of the party whip. "Satisfactory!" This is too much.

SOLVED
The Christian Science Monitor

The U.S. Department of Justice writes "Solved" against the last of the thirty-six clear-cut cases of kidnapping arising since the Lindbergh one. Several "public enemies" involved are still at large, but no case remains a mystery. Of the misguided perpetrators, two have fallen before guns of government agents, two more have been murdered, three have taken their own lives, two sentenced to death, sixteen to life imprisonment, seventy-five have been convicted. Lawyer-advised gangland is thinking hard—Only Simple Simon's gang answers the call to kidnapping nowadays.

WARNING!

The Times urges its correspondents to restrict their contributions to 600 words. Henceforth it positively will not print communications which exceed that length.

These letters must be plainly written on one side of the paper only, and must be accompanied by address and address of the writer, not necessarily for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

Letters will not be re-written for publication. If they are not legible no attempt will be made to read them.

Letters containing offensive personal reflections will not be printed.

These rules, which henceforth will be carried out absolutely, are designed as much for the protection of our readers as for that of The Times.

The Times will not assume responsibility for the return to the writers of articles sent for publication in the Correspondence Column or anywhere else in this newspaper, whether they are published or not, unless they have been specially solicited.

ABERHART, ON ABERHART!

To the Editor.—Life is a continuous series of disappointments, but it seems to me that our Alberta brethren have let themselves in for one big and cumulative disappointment, compared to which the ordinary failure of fulfillment is nothing.

Mr. Aberhart is said to have received a striking mandate from the people. But that mandate has nothing to do with merits or demerits of parties or policies. It is a mandate to pay each voter a basic dividend of $25 a month at least—most of them hoping as they marked the ballot that the amount would be larger.

The leader proposes to call in Major Douglas for consultation. But the Reid government did that some time ago, and Douglas advised them that Alberta could not put a social credit system into effect all by itself. Cold comfort for Aberhart's shareholders if he is given the same advice!

Some say all that is necessary is to make a credit entry in each person's account at the end of every month. But suppose the shareholder wants to draw on his account? If he gets a book of coupons, how far will they be anything but wastepaper? The Alberta creditor may take them (other than banks and federal officers)—may be forced by his government to accept them—but they certainly will not be worth one cent outside provincial boundaries.

Another plan—Aberhart mentions it—is to raise the funds for the payment of basic dividends by a levy on all sales of products. What does that mean? Simply this, that the consumer (in other words, everybody) pays this levy in order to pay himself $25 a month! Charming! simple. If Albertans tax themselves what is removed to be a total of $140,000,000 to pay Albertans $140,000,000 all well and good. But let them not forget that when their products come into competition with those of other provinces and countries this great addition to the cost of production is going to hit them hard, so hard that the basic dividend, if it could be made worth anything, will be no offset.

It looks to me this way, either the beneficiaries are going to contribute their own benefits or there will be no benefits. But perhaps the social creditors in office will forget the basic dividend, whereupon the enraged voters will take the earliest chance to send them back to the shades.

DOUBTING THOMAS.

RE SECTION 93

To the Editor.—"Believer in Democracy's" letter in Friday's issue reminds me of the adage that "there is none so blind as he who will not see." Your correspondent says "If the unsupported evidence of a convicted man given under oath, is all that is necessary to procure the reversal of a verdict of 'guilty,' then I must confess myself even more ignorant of our system of jurisprudence than I thought I was."

He starts off on the wrong foot when he refers to the "evidence of a convicted man." No man is convicted until the jury has found him guilty. At the close of the Crown's case an accused has the right to call his own evidence, and it is only after the evidence of both the Crown and the accused has been taken that the jury is required to give a verdict.

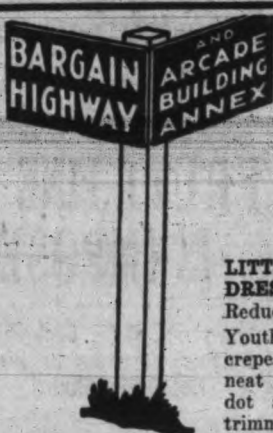

Your correspondent is inclined to doubt the efficacy of the line of pleading suggested by me, and he goes on to say that it is unlikely that professing a belief in democracy would be looked upon favorably by an "oligarchical" government or "the instruments by which such a type of government imposes its will upon the people." Your correspondent's language can only refer to the courts. Does he hold that these institutions which are held in such high repute by the citizens of Canada have been unfair in their decisions in these cases? I would remind him that in all cases under Section 98 juries have functioned. Does he suggest that juries have been biased or corrupt?

ROBT. HARVEY.

MORTGAGE INTEREST

To the Editor.—Now that Alberta has voted overwhelmingly in favor of "Social Credit," it would be well to examine our ground in British Columbia, on the eve of a Dominion election.

On many occasions the Hon. H. H. Stevens has declared that interest rates on homes and farms were too high, that anything more than 5 per cent interest was unconscionable. Has the Real Estate Board of Victoria ever considered this question in its relation to falling values, in its relation to rental values, in its relation to the lumber business, the payment of taxes, the reversion of property to the city, and last but not least, in its relation to the demoralization of labor and capital generally. We venture to say that if the interest rate on mortgages and agreements had not exceeded a maximum of 5 per cent there would have been no depression in Canada. People would have held on to their property, they would have paid their interest, and labor would have received its reward, and put its honest earnings back again into industry. It is time the financial interest woke up, or are they seeking to terrorize the people by the spectre of "Russia." They had better look at Canada first, for as Emerson says "Treat men as birds and they will fly out of their hearts, and you shall suffer as well as they." We are either going

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

August 26, 1910
(From The Times Files)

After an acrimonious discussion which lasted for nearly three hours and a half the citizens' water committee at a session held last evening by a vote of 13 to 9 decided to recommend to the City Council the introduction of a by-law providing for the appropriation of the holdings of the Esquimalt Waterworks Company.

The work of filling in the ravine under the George Road bridge has at last been completed. This will prove a welcome announcement to the owners of vehicles who have occasion to use that thoroughfare.

The new Pemberton Block is fast approaching completion and office quarters will in a few days be occupied in the new structure by Messrs. Pemberton and Sons. The Royal Bank building on Government Street will also be ready for occupancy shortly.

C. E. Todd as chairman of the committee of the Fish and Game Club, appointed to wait on the provincial government, in a letter to ask that the shooting season should not open until October 1, yesterday received a reply to the effect that the application had been received too late and that no action could be taken by the executive council this year. The season will therefore open September 15 as originally set by the government.

Air Stewardess

By Vida Hurst

In spite of her previous attempt to be philosophical, tears were wet upon her cheeks as she turned out the light and went to bed.

CHAPTER VII

Sunday morning found Irene dressed in her uniform before 11 o'clock. Eve was still asleep and Virginia, who had sat up talking to Bill until Eve came home, was baking a cake.

"To go with the ice cream," she explained. "Bill is so crazy about it."

"You'll spoil him," Irene warned. "No danger! He's been married before to the kind who didn't know how to do anything but open a can. I wish you were going to be here for dinner, too."

"Have me a piece of cake," Irene begged, adjusting the green hat. "And pray for me, I'm on my way to Seattle."

Since her first trip when they had been compelled to make a forced landing she had secretly dreaded that part of her schedule. Suppose it should be rough like that again? Would she be able to keep her balance and look after the passengers as the other stewardesses had done?

At the airport she met Tom Merritt for the first time since she had gone out with him.

He saluted her gaily. "Hello, there! How are you getting along?"

"Fine!" she returned.

"Going to Seattle with me today?"

"I'm going to Seattle."

"Oh, you are? Well, listen, Baby, you're going with me then. We're both leaving on the same plane."

The trip was rough. It would have been bad enough Irene thought if she hadn't been expected to serve lunch but the task of preparing even the simplest meal in a kitchen which consisted of a foot square shelf was a difficult one. As she poured the coffee the cream upset and when she stooped down to mop up the cream, the hot coffee slid down her neck.

Then just when the trays were ready to serve the plane hit an unexpected air bump and the coffee spilled for the second time all over the napkins and plates. It was almost as if the mischievous Tom Merritt were doing it deliberately to torment her.

By the time they reached Seattle, Irene was glad to stumble into the limousine bound for the hotel where rooms for the air hostesses were reserved.

She felt ill and discouraged. If all trips were like this one, it wouldn't be worth it, she thought, hurrying out of her clothes and slipping into a bed which continued to pitch even after she had closed her eyes.

She must have slept, because when she opened them it was after 8 and the telephone was ringing. Tom's voice jeered. "You sound as if you had been asleep."

"I have."

"At 8 o'clock in the evening? Get dressed and let's go places."

Once before she had accepted that invitation to learn that Tom's idea of a perfect evening was a succession of amorous advances leading up to the inevitable conclusion.

"I can't," she evaded. "Too tired."

"Don't be that way," he begged. "I'll leave you alone if that's what you're afraid of."

"I'm not afraid, Tom. Just too exhausted to battle with you."

"There won't be any battle," he promised. "Word of honor. Come on. I will do you good."

Thus agreed, Irene rose and dressed again. To find just as she suspected that Tom's word on such matters was worthless. He left her alone just long enough to eat her dinner, then he began.

"What do you have against me, Baby? Why don't you kiss me?"

"That any girl might not want to kiss the handsomest pilot on the air line was incomprehensible."

"You're the funniest kid I ever saw," he said, when after an evening wasted in argument he brought her back to her hotel. "I can't understand how a girl as pretty as you are can be so self-sufficient."

"Perhaps that's why," she answered wearily.

The trips to Portland and to San Francisco were uneventful. But an incident occurred on the way home from Los Angeles that week which strengthened her resolution not to accept engagements with passengers. A man got on at the Burbank airport after bidding his wife and two children good-bye.

He was a tired looking man in his early thirties, and well-dressed but wearing a black beret. His wife was young and blond and pretty. The children daintily fresh in summer clothes danced about him shouting. "We want to go with you, Daddy. Take us, too."

It was the noise they were making which attracted Irene's attention in the first place. Then she saw that there were tears in the eyes of the girl who clung to him. She was still watching as the plane circled back past the airport but her husband was too busy getting settled to look for her. The name on his ticket was Norman Drury and he was going to San Francisco.

When Irene perched on the arm of his chair to chat as was her custom he said, "Aren't you new?"

"I've been working two weeks."

"I make this trip once or twice a month," he said. "And I was sure I hadn't seen you before. One wouldn't forget a girl like you."

She smiled and started to move away.

"Don't go!" he begged. "I'd like to talk to you. My interest in pretty girls is not personal. I'm married."

"So I perceived," she retorted.

"My wife is a wonderful girl. Very broadminded. But then she'd have to be. Wives of men connected with motion pictures can't afford to be otherwise."

So he was connected with motion pictures, was he? Well he looked it, Irene thought. Slight and tired with rather a cynical expression and lines about his eyes. Even without the beret he would have compiled exactly with her idea of a movie director.

He made no further attempt to converse with her but opened a portfolio conspicuously filled with "stills" and apparently became deeply absorbed in his work.

Bill Naughton was "deadheading it" back to San Francisco so when Irene had an idle moment she said to him. "It seems we have a movie director traveling with us to-day."

The publicity man grinned.

"Do you mean the gent in the front seat?"

"Mr. Drury—yes!"

"He's no director," Bill said. "Where did you get that idea?"

"From him. He said he was connected with the motion picture."

"He's a film salesman," Bill declared. "I've known him for years. One of the biggest liars on the Pacific coast."

Irene was amused.

"I might have known it. If he really were a director he wouldn't have gone around boasting about it."

Bill nodded.

"You're learning, child! The real celebrities sneak on and off the planes as if they were criminals. That's what makes my life so complicated. The ones whose pictures I crave shun publicity while the ones I don't want are only too anxious."

The plane was approaching Fresno, and Irene arose to see that straps were adjusted for the descent.

"What would you like to do, Bill, if you had a chance?"

"Go to China as a newspaper correspondent," Bill answered promptly.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

ALL THAT BABY DOES PUZZLES AND WORRIES YOUNG MOTHER

The young mother is seldom in a position to decide the seriousness of a child's behavior, or symptoms. She is bothered about everything the baby does and wants knowledge of what to do about it. So many situations can be ignored since what the baby is doing has no particular significance. The following questions, though, should be interesting to all those mothers to whom a new baby is a conundrum every waking moment.

Mrs. F. H. writes: "My baby is three months old and has gained five pounds, now weighing fourteen. He is good and hardly ever cries."

APPETITE VARIES

"I give him a formula of twelve ounces of evaporated milk, twenty ounces of evaporated milk, twenty of boiled water and four teaspoons of corn syrup. This mixture is boiled three minutes and he then gets six four and one-half ounce feedings."

"Is this formula right? Why does he gulp it down at one feeding and the next time act as if he doesn't want it? I have to waken him at 10 p.m. for a feeding, is he too young to go through the night without one? I have heard that it isn't good to give canned milk for long—is this true?"

"He sucks his finger persistently, how can I break him of this? Why does he stick his fingers down his throat and gag himself? He chews his fist a lot—could he be teething? What is wrong when he perspires a lot during his sunbath?"

MORE FOOD

The formula could be as much as fourteen ounces of evaporated milk, four and one-half tablespoons of syrup and enough boiled water to make five six and one-half ounce feedings. These can be offered at 6-10-2-6 and any time at night at which he awakens naturally for one. The gain is excellent. Unless you are giving water too close to a meal, baby should be hungry every four hours.

All the attention the finger sucking needs it to take his finger out of his mouth. Babies stuff fingers into their eyes and down their throats because their movements are instinctive rather than purposeful.

ALWAYS TEETHING

The evaporated milk can be used indefinitely provided you offer some form of vitamin C daily (oranges, lemon juice, tomato juice, fresh cabbage juice) to make up for that lost in processing the milk. Your letter did not mention this and it is a real lack in your diet.

You may have for a self addressed and stamped envelope leaflets on "Evaporated Milk Formula" and "Feeding from Two to Nine Months."

The baby is teething from birth, but only at certain ages there are disturbances due to tooth eruption. At this age the assumption is absurd. You are probably overdoing the length of the sunbath.

To-morrow: "If Weaned Baby Refuses Cow's Milk, Don't Force It On Him."

New York Predicts Colored Stockings of Silk, Lisle and Wool

Associated Press
New York, Aug. 26.—Red and green hose of silk, lisle or wool are fashion's latest dictate for feminine apparel. Ubiquitous beige is slated to step aside for color, some style experts predict.

Two and three-thread green or red silk stockings are becoming fashionable for dressy wear.

Wine red silk stockings are striking with all the few popular red tones. Green suede silk stockings are worn with greens and browns, with green suede or antelope gloves and bags to match.

One attractive creation displayed on smart Fifth Street had darkened blue silk stockings with a blue tulle suit and raspberry red velvet collar, cuffs and hat.

Evening tones of silk stockings are usually in shades of a golden glow or silvery cast to match gold and silver slippers.

Wine Pett Point—A card party was held on Thursday at the home of Mrs. J. Kelly, Esquimalt Road, under the auspices of Mirpau Court No. 2, Order of Amaranth. It was announced that the competition sponsored by that order, for which a piece of petit point was the prize, was won by E. Rigby Jr. of North Park Street.

Miss Doris Winkler, much-feted bride-elect, will leave this evening for the mainland en route for Parry Sound, Ontario, where her marriage will take place at Mr. Edmund Ironside. Miss Winkler was the guest of honor at a kitchen shower on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Doreen Cooper. The gifts were presented to a miniature clothesline and were presented to the bride-to-be in a miniature clothes-basket by little Donna McCabe. Games were enjoyed during the evening, prizes being won by Miss Ruth McIntosh and Miss Doris Ockwell. A buffet supper was served from a prettily-appointed table which was centered with a silver bowl of coral pink gladioli. Those present were Mrs. W. Winkler, Mrs. Archie Smith, Mrs. Charles Cooper, Mrs. Arthur Conn, Mrs. M. J. McCabe, and Misses Phyllis May, Doris Ockwell, Olive Maclean, Margaret Matthews, Pat McDonald, Ruth McIntosh, Lillian Parfitt, Evelyn Slater, Doreen Cooper and Donna McCabe.

Miss Nan Nicol, who is to be married shortly to Mr. Wm. H. Longton, was the guest of honor at a kitchen shower arranged by Mrs. J. Kelly, Esquimalt Road, under the auspices of Mirpau Court No. 2, Order of Amaranth. It was announced that the competition sponsored by that order, for which a piece of petit point was the prize, was won by E. Rigby Jr. of North Park Street.

Recent Weddings

LOCKE-PERCY

Of much interest to local friends of the bridegroom was the wedding celebrated at St. Paul's Anglican Church, Vancouver, on Saturday evening between Norah Anne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Percy, Barclay Street, and Mr. Charles W. E. (Bibi) Locke, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Locke, Rithet Street, Victoria. Mr. and Mrs. Locke went over to the mainland July Friday for the wedding.

Canon Harold King performed the ceremony in the presence of a large congregation. The church was beautifully decorated with standard baskets of pastel hydrangeas and palms. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and attending her was her sister, Miss Barbara J. Percy, as maid of honor and Miss Beatrice Locke, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid, while little Barbara and Janet Percy, nieces of the bride, acted as flower girls.

Supporting the groom were Mr. Kendall Mercer, while acting as ushers were Mr. Arthur Mercer, Mr. Phil Willis and Mr. Jack Locke.

LACE GOWN

A very lovely gown of white French lace was worn by the bride, the costume being posed over lustrous white satin. The skirt extended into a long court train over which fell the veil of silk net, attached to the head with a coronage of orange blossoms edged with seed pearls. The long, tight-fitting sleeves formed little points over the hands and the neckline was high in front and back. In the bridal bouquet were lily-of-the-valley and white gardenias.

Dainty frocks of chiffon were worn by all four attendants, the little flower girls wearing yellow, Janet's frock being the pale tone. Their dresses were in long Colonial style with two ruffles marking the toe-length hemlines, and tiny pale sleeves giving a quaint touch. They wore tiny Juliet caps of seed pearls and carried Colonial bouquets.

Miss Percy's gown, as maid of honor, was of shrimp pink chiffon, posed over shot taffeta and Miss Locke's was in a slightly lighter shade, both dresses styled similarly.

Their long skirts continuing into slight trains at the back and alighted in front to show the taffeta under-slip. Wide, elbow-length sleeves and intricate lace and shoulder shirring featured the bodices, the jacquettes tying in front with a hand-made French chrysanthemum of deeper-toned velvet. Their hats were picture models of brown velvet and they carried bouquets of bronze chrysanthemum.

HOTEL RECEPTION

At the reception held in the York room of the Hotel Georgia Mrs. Percy with Mrs. Locke, mothers of the principals, assisted in receiving the former wearing a smart ensemble of black and white French chiffon, with black picture hat and corsage bouquet of red roses, and the latter a becoming gown of green trimmed crepe, black velvet hat, ostrich trimmed, and corsage of cream roses.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Burns of Calgary, who have been visiting here for the last few months, will return next week to their home in Alberta.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Raymur of Vancouver have returned to their home on the mainland after spending a few days in Victoria with Mrs. Raymur's aunts, Mrs. C. F. Cox and Miss Cox, Crescent Road.

Mrs. Thomas Thomson and Mrs. A. E. Taylor will be "at home" on Tuesday from 3 to 6:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Taylor, 1237 Oscar Street, in honor of Mrs. C. Bruce Low, formerly Miss Laura Thomson.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Smith, Luxton, announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Evelyn May, to George Rowland, only son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Wells, of Sooke. The wedding will take place at the end of October.

Mr. W. A. Campbell of West Point Grey announces the engagement of his daughter, Helen, to Mr. Alexander Smith Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Smith of Victoria. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride's father in August.

Mrs. Richard S. Campbell of Los Angeles and her three children, Bruce, Colin and Joan, will leave on Saturday on their return to their home in California after visiting in Victoria for the summer months with her parents, Captain and Mrs. C. Wormald, Buttle Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen McSally of Leicester, England, who are on a world tour, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Raven, Berwick Street, for about a month. Both Mr. and Mrs. McSally are keen bowlers, Mr. McSally being an international champion and English champion in 1904. He played for England on the team which won all three games against Ireland, Scotland and Wales, and also played against south Africa in that country.

An approaching marriage of international interest, announced in Vancouver, is that of Catherine Rose, elder daughter of Mrs. Harrison of Caulfield and the late Francis E. Harrison of Vancouver, to Baron Gustaf Djurklou, only son of Baron and Baroness Gustaf Djurklou of Stockholm, Sweden, the marriage to take place shortly. The bride-to-be spent six years travelling in Europe with her parents and sister, and has for the past three years been living in Stockholm. She is a graduate of Crofton House School, Vancouver, and is a niece of Mrs. George D. Brynner of New Westminster.

Miss Grace Duncan was hostess at her home on Linden Avenue on Friday evening to compliment Miss Mary Parkinson, when a most enjoyable time was spent by those present.

The supper table, presided over by Miss Ruth Carey, was centered with a lovely arrangement of pale pink and white sweet peas in a green glass bowl, illuminated by tall pink tapers in green glass holders, and places were laid for Mrs. W. B. Sylvester, Mrs. Carey and the Misses Mary Parkinson, Vivian Pennock, Ruth Carey, Patsy Morrow, Patricia Pennock, Hilda Greaves, Grace Duncan, Ruth Salmon, Laisy Bird, Helen Parkinson, Dola Greaves and Alice Parkinson.

Guests staying at The Forest Inn, Shawinigan Lake, include: From Victoria: Mrs. H. A. Ellis, Miss A. Taylor, the Misses Phillips, Miss Mary H. Walker, Mr. J. G. Monteith, Mr. and Mrs. R. Hetherington, Dr. and Mrs. John Kay Martin, Seattle; Mr. and Mrs. F. Hamilton Russell, Toronto; Mrs. J. Boser, Mrs. M. McCann, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Spencer H. Wheeler, Berkeley, Calif.; Miss Nellie C. Cornish, Miss Ellen Van Volkenburg-Brown, Seattle; Mr. and Mrs. Ken N. Clarke, Miss Eva Clarke, Mrs. I. Maude, Carmel, Calif.

Miss Theresa Bolton of New Westminster and Mr. Henry Medina of Shawinigan Lake attended the bride and groom.

PITON-LOYDE

A pretty wedding of interest to friends of both the bride and groom took place at the home of the bride's cousin, Mr. and Mrs. C. Shubbrook, 521 Burnside Road, on August 17, when Miss Dorothy Towndend Loyde became the bride of Harold Henry Piton Jr., only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Piton Sr., Shawinigan Lake, Rev. James Hood officiated.

Miss Theresa Bolton of New Westminster and Mr. Henry Medina of Shawinigan Lake attended the bride and groom.

WORLD DAY FOR ANIMALS OCT. 5

The secretary of the local anti-vivisection society at its meeting here reported much publicity work having been carried on during the last month. The board plans for the observance of World Day for Animals on October 5, with the customary tea and prize giving for children.

The matter of vivisection in the Shantung Mission, China, occasioned further consideration, several letters having been received from Dr. A. S. Millard, of London and Edinburgh, who reported the fact that vivisection was being practised in a so-called "Christian" university. The mission is supported in England, Canada and the United States, and objection is being made by those interested.

Reports and letters were read. From Quebec came a request for information as to what was being done to combat vivisection in Canada. Toronto reported terrible conditions discovered on premises, where animals had been collected for vivisection by a ring of animal thieves. A reply was read from Captain Richard of Hythe, England, who had been congratulated on his opposition to a tag day in his town for cancer research funds.

The National Society of Chicago (honorary president, George Arliss) has issued a booklet refuting the claims of the American College of Surgeons for vivisection. A number have been purchased for distribution locally. The Canadian Abolitionist is now being edited and published in Victoria, with increasing circulation. During the coming federal election prospective candidates will be circled in their attitude towards animal experimentation, and members of the local society notified accordingly.

A series of house lectures will be arranged for the winter months. For all particulars apply to Miss Doris Kitch, honorary secretary, 315 Bayward Building.

DRAMA CONTEST TO VISIT CANADA ON HONEYMOON DATES ARE SET

Regional Festival in Vancouver January 27 to February 1

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—Regulations covering the 1936 Dominion Drama Festival provide for contests in eleven regions into which Canada is divided for competition, with a final week in Ottawa beginning Monday, April 20. Issued by J. A. Aylen, honorary secretary-general of the festival, the regulations set the following dates for English play regional festivals in western Canada: British Columbia (Vancouver), January 27 to February 1; Alberta (Calgary), February 6, 7 and 8; Saskatchewan (Saskatoon), February 13, 14 and 15; Manitoba (Winnipeg), February 20, 21 and 22.

Regional festivals for French plays will be held in Quebec city, Montreal and Ottawa on dates to be arranged and announced later.

No play performed in the finals at Ottawa in 1934 or 1935 will be eligible for presentation in 1936, the regulations set forth. As in the past the festival will be restricted to one-act plays or single self-contained scenes from longer plays which occupy less than twenty and not more than forty-five minutes.

Direction of the festival again will be in the hands of Col. H. C. Osborne, honorary director, and an executive committee in each region a regional committee will have charge.

HEALTH MEANS CHARM AND HAPPINESS

Sparkling eyes and smiling lips speak of health and vitality. Clear skin attracts. The healthy active girl is both happy and popular. Perhaps you are not really ill yet when the day's work is done you are too tired to enter into the good times that other women enjoy. For extra energy, try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It tones up your general health. Gives you more pep—more charm. Remember that 98 out of 100 women report benefit. Let it help you too.

"I had little pimples that were itching and burning all over my face and neck. Some of the pimples scaled over, while others festered and were scattered all over my face. My skin was red and tender in spots as big as a twenty-five cent piece, and the pimples hurt terribly. I did not go anywhere."

"This lasted over nine months and then I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using, there was an improvement so I bought more, and in fifteen days I was free of the horrible suffering." (Signed) Andrew Skolny, Birds Hill, Manitoba, Feb. 22, 1935.

DOWNWARD-MACDONALD

Amid a setting of pastel flowers, including an arch spanning the central aisle and standard baskets filled with summer flowers and greenery arranged by members of the bride's bridge club, two popular young people were united in marriage at the Belmont United Church on Saturday evening.

The principals were Alice Evelyn, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Macdonald, 1330 Balmoral Road; and Mr. James Henry Downward, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Downard, 1440 Pembroke Street. Rev. James Hood officiated.

To the strains of the Bridal Chorus played by Mr. Jesse Longfield, the bride entered the church escorted by her father. She was a radiant figure in her ivory satin gown fashioned with a long skirt and train edged with lace, and a long-sleeved lace jacket. Her veil of net was appliqued with lace and was arranged with a coronet of tulle and orange blossoms, which had been her mother's. She carried a shower bouquet of roses, sweet peas and white heather.

Mrs. Fred. Hawes, sister of the bridegroom, was the matron of honor, wearing a gown of organdy voile flowered in mauve and yellow and a yellow mohair hat and long lace mittens, and carried a sheaf of golden and yellow gladioli. Miss Flora Macdonald, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid in a charming frock of frilled pink organdy with a deep cape collar and a lace straw hat to match, trimmed with electric blue velvet ribbon, and pink lace mittens, and she carried a sheaf of gladioli in two shades of pink. Mr. Victor Downard supported his brother, and the ushers were Mr. Fred Hawes and Mr. Ernest Harris.

During the signing of the register, Miss Eileen McPherson sang "Until" very sweetly.

After the ceremony, a largely-attended reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where an archway in pink, mauve and white asters was arranged, and beneath this the bride and groom stood to receive the good wishes of their friends.

Mrs. Macdonald wore a smart gown of deep vintage red tulle and a chignon of velvet jacket to match, and a hat of corded silk, and Mrs. Downard was in a dress of Marina blue with a matching hat, and they both wore corsage bouquets of roses.

Supper was served to the guests by Misses Kathleen Nesbitt, Elinor Cudlip, Mabel Gilliland, Lorne Wilson, Eileen McPherson, Phyllis Weiden, Selma Selwari, of Vancouver and Helen Bolt, from a table arranged with pink and mauve flowers and centred with the wedding cake.

After a motoring trip in the United States, Mr. and Mrs. Downard will make their home at Shirley. The bride went away in a navy blue swaggar suit with a Marina blouse and a navy blue turban and a corsage bouquet of roses.

Mr. Percy Downard and his son came over from Seattle for the wedding.

PANTORIUM ECONOMY SERVICE IS HALF THE PRICE OF STANDARD

STANDARD

Standard service represents the finest quality and craftsmanship money can buy. All garments are carefully inspected, measured and individually handled, with every care taken to prevent shrinkage. Called for and delivered when desired. This is our well-known Pantorium service, offered at the regular Pantorium charges.

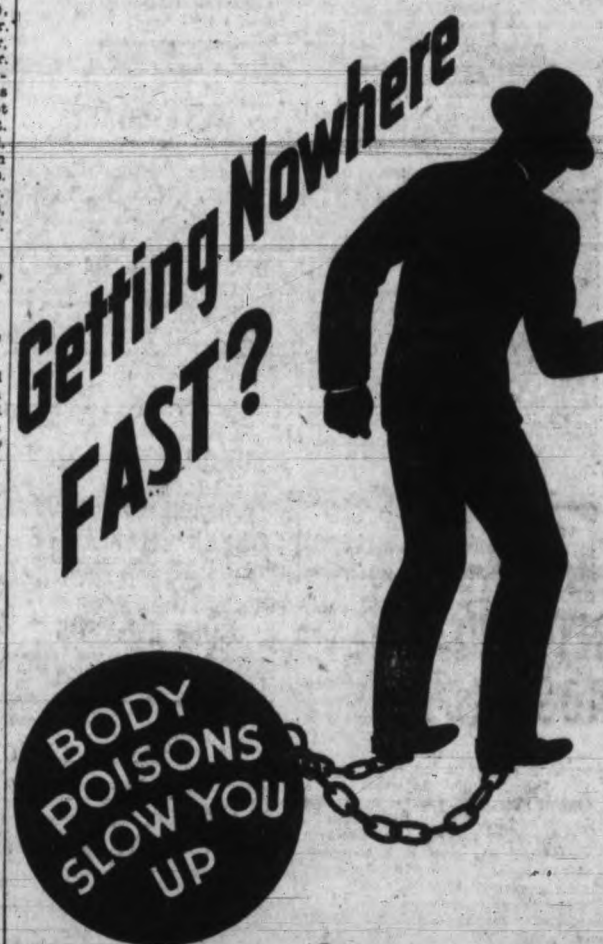

ECONOMY

The Economy service is designed to meet the reduced incomes of the times. Clothes undergo the same cleaning process as in the Standard Service. The Economy service, however, does not involve quite the same measure of painstaking finishing and care. Moreover, Standard service means delivery at a specified hour. Economy service does not assure such prompt service.

THINKS WAR IS UNLIKELY

France and Britain Co-operating to Prevent It, Says Dr. A. Siegfried

Dr. Andre Siegfried, professor of geographic economy, College of France, who has arrived in the city from Paris, expresses the view there will be no war between Italy and Ethiopia.

Dr. Siegfried will address a joint luncheon of the Rotary Club and Canadian Club at the Empress Hotel on Thursday.

France and Great Britain, Dr. Siegfried points out, are working together for the maintenance of peace, and will continue to do so.

Both France and Britain, he says, have the liberal conception of government, while the rest of Europe has gone after dictatorships.

France and Britain, therefore, must co-operate to maintain the balance, Dr. Siegfried contends.

The purpose of Dr. Siegfried's visit to Canada and the United States is to revise his information on economic and political conditions in both countries, fifteen years having elapsed since his last visit.

While in the east, Dr. Siegfried investigated the manufacturing situation, and in the west he is interested in the question of world markets. He is impressed by the international outlook in the west and in general with the development of Canada as a mining country. There is a much wider outlook in Canada as an export country, he states.

Dr. Siegfried is also delighted to find that Canadians show a greater interest in foreign affairs. With the development of its potential resources, Canada has a great future, Dr. Siegfried states.

PRAIRIE FOLK VISITED CITY

Vancouver, Aug. 26.—Officials of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways to-day revealed more than 5,000 tourists have reached Vancouver from prairie points since Thursday, opening day of special excursions.

Special trains have also left Vancouver on both roads for the east. It is estimated about 1,700 people, mostly prairie tourists, visited Victoria over the week-end and about 1,500 visited Newcastle Island, mostly old time Nanaimo residents, who attended the Nanaimo old timers reunion there.

Doug Peden Third In Toronto Event

Toronto, Aug. 26.—In a great driving finish, Art Leadbetter of the Houting Rambler Cycle Club, Toronto, captured the three-mile lap race for Class A riders from "Rusty" Peden of the Maple Leaf Club, Toronto, in one of the features of the Canadian National Exhibition bicycle meet here Saturday.

Doug Peden, Victoria, young brother of the famous "Torchy," blazed in third.

An added attraction brought together three well-known professional six-day riders when "Torchy" Peden, Victoria; Reggie Fielding and Bert Smith, Toronto, raced a one-mile event. The flashy "Torchy" captured the event in a blanket finish.

WANT LAKE KEPT FOR FLY FISHING

The Victoria and Island Fish and Game Association will in the near future tender a recommendation to provincial game authorities that Wolfe Lake, which is to be re-stocked this week-end with 40,000 cutthroat fingerlings, be reserved for fly fishing only in future and that the lake be closed down for one year so as to give the newcomers a chance to reach a reasonable size.

If the association's request is granted, Wolfe Lake will be the only place on the island which has been set aside for fly fishing only.

Fishing reports over the week-end show that big fish are now running in good numbers in the lake and rivers on the Forbidden Plateau, and that salmon and cod fishing off Trial Island is good, with some fine catches being brought in over the week-end.

Hugh Farquhar Wins Annual Tennis Meet

Hugh Farquhar, scoring a total of eighteen points, took top place honors in the annual Reveliers' tennis championship, played under American rules, at the High School tennis courts, Saturday afternoon.

Alan Rogers and Ronald Kay tied for second place with thirteen points. Farquhar took possession of the Bedington Cup, which for the last two years has been in the hands of Bob Sheret.

Bob Morrison Is Medalist In City Golf Championship

THE SPORTS MIRROR

GEORGE HERMAN RUTH, for years the most magnetic attraction in baseball, suddenly has become the biggest card in golf in the United States. Ruth already has sufficient invitations to carry him through the winter. Promoters seek the Babe for a nation-wide tour. It is suggested that Sammy Byrd, outfielder of the Cincinnati Reds, be the old home-run king's partner in such a venture at the conclusion of the major league season. Byrd, who was Ruth's understudy with the New York Yankees for several seasons, is a professional golfer during the off-season and one of the best.

Ruth has not as yet made up his mind, although he intends to play plenty of golf for the remainder of the year. Next to baseball, the royal and ancient pastime long has been his favorite sport.

In Ruth's first tournament—the True Temper Open over the course of the Anacapa Country Club at Cleveland—the Bambino, who could do no better than 85 in the opening round, drew record galleries.

Ted Luther, who recently repelled Billy Burke in a playoff for the Ohio open title, turned in a 68 for the first round. Jack Fassezke, Jackson, Mich., had a 69. Eight others were under par 73, including Ray Mangrum, Burke, Ed. Dudley, Johnny Revolta and Clarence Clark, the latter of Bloomfield, N.J. The field included such renowned professional shotmakers as Walter Hazen, Jug McSpaden, Henry Picard, Denny Shute, Al and Abe Espinosa, Tony Manero, Mortie Dutra, Joe Egan and Gene Kunes, yet Ruth stole the show.

Ruth played with Tommy Armour and Burke, and the galleries trailing them increased with each hole. The veteran Hazen was the only pro who shared to any extent the attention of those who tramped behind the players.

It struck the critics that the Babe pressed a bit in his first serious effort in fast company. He was guilty of left-handed slicing offener than he is when on his game.

Ruth does not hit the phenomenally long ball that most people imagine. The Babe's drives are fairly long, but he is inclined to slice, so sacrifices distance for control. His short game is excellent. He puts very well, for his is a delicate touch. This is not at all surprising, for Ruth's home run propensity made people overlook the fact that he was one of the most skillful bunters who ever played baseball.

Ruth shoots between 75 and 80 consistently. It is not likely that he ever will be able to compete with top flight professionals. However, he stands an excellent chance of finishing as high amateur in any open tournament, and it is this that appeals to him.

Ruth's desire to stand out as an amateur has a great deal to do with his decision about closing for a tour. He is not keen about turning professional, which he would have to do in order to capitalize on his magnetism in this new field.

The current major league baseball season has had its full share of surprises. It has been a tough year for doers. Among other things, forecasts have been confounded by the unexpected showing of the Chicago White Sox, the unforeseen success of night game in Cincinnati, the withdrawal of Babe Ruth and the unlooked-for blow-up of the highly heralded Cleveland pitching staff. One of the biggest surprises of the year comes in a rather small package. He is Buddy Myer, second sacker of the Washington Senators, who, although his team is as potent as a lukewarm drink of lemonade, is battling Joe Vosmik of the Cleveland Indians, for the American League batting championship.

Uplands Ace In Brilliant Form To Win By Stroke

LED FIELD

BOB MORRISON of the Uplands Club who carried off the medal honors in yesterday's thirty-six-hole qualifying round of the city amateur golf championship at the Victoria Golf Club.

Has Rounds of 68 and 71 at Oak Bay; Jimmy Todd Second With Two 70's

MATCH PLAY TO OPEN SATURDAY

Victoria's leading amateur golfers literally burned up the Victoria Golf Club course yesterday in the thirty-six-hole qualifying round of the annual city championship, and when the battle of birdies and pars had been waged Bob Morrison, Uplands, emerged with the medalist honors with a score of 139.

Morrison fired a par-breaking 68 at the remainder of the field in the morning and came back with a 71 in the afternoon. At that, the Uplands star finished with only a lone stroke over Jimmy Todd, Oak Bay club champion, who wound up the day with a pair of 70's for a splendid 140. Just one stroke more in third place was Harold Brynjolson, another Uplands entry, who scored a 73 in the morning and then came with a blazing 68 in the afternoon.

Alan Taylor, Oak Bay, took fourth place with 146 and fifth place to H. G. Mackenzie with 148.

LAWSON THIRTEENTH
Kenny Lawson, Colwood, defending champion, wound up in thirteenth place with 153. He was tied with Bobby Ford. The low thirty-two scorers qualified for championship play, with scores of 166 or better necessary to make the title fight.

On his morning round Morrison was out in 32, one under par, and back in 36, perfect figures. In the afternoon the medalist took 33 strokes on the first nine and used 38 on the return journey.

Morrison's card follows:
Morning
Out 54 55 53 53 33—32
In 45 52 53 45 54—36—68

Afternoon
Out 45 53 43 44 44—33
In 45 53 43 44 44—38—71

In the B class championship, R. A. Simpson and C. Thomas tied for medal honors with scores of 96 for the eighteen holes. J. C. Penderay placed third with 88 and J. Barlow fourth with 89.

Match play in both the city and B class championships will get under way next Saturday and continue Sunday, with the finals on Labor Day.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

—By John Hix

Strange as it seems, the Japanese eat their national flower, the chrysanthemum, in various ways. For salad they take the flowers, wash and dry them, then mix them with potatoes, artichoke bottoms, shrimp and capers. The bowl is decorated with beetroot and hard boiled eggs. Sometimes they serve chrysanthemum leaves and flowers boiled. The roots may also be boiled and served with sugar and soy. During the Kiku no Sekku, or festival of the chrysanthemum, the flower petals are steeped in sake, or rice wine, before it is drunk. Centuries ago, during the reign of Emperor Kwammu in the middle eighth century, medicinal preparations were also made from the chrysanthemum.

Montreal, second largest seaport in North America, is 1,000 miles from the open sea—yet strange as it seems, this port is closer by 300 miles to Liverpool, England, than New York. The Canadian city lies in approximately the same longitude as New York, but is about five degrees farther

EUROPEAN NET TEAM IN FINAL

Kay Stammers and Roderick Menzel Gain Last Bracket in U.S. Title Play

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 26.—Kay Stammers, England, and Roderick Menzel, Czechoslovakia, won their way into today's United States mixed tennis doubles final yesterday by defeating Mrs. Phyllis Mudford King, England, and Gene Mako, young Californian Davis Cup rookie, 8-6, 6-4.

On Saturday Helen Jacobs, top-ranking woman player, and Mrs. Babcock, retained their doubles title by turning back their U.S. Wightman Cup teammates, Mrs. Dorothy Andrus, Stanford, Conn., and Carolyn Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn, who held the men's doubles titles in 1931, gained the title round for the third time in six years by out-battling Wilmer Hines, Columbia, S.C., and Henry Culler, Santa Barbara, Calif., for a 2-6, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3 triumph.

Don Budge and Gene Mako, the Californian "comers" selected for Davis Cup service this year, beat Frank Shields and Frank Parker 6-4, 6-3, 6-3.

Escobar-Salica Meet To-night
New York, Aug. 26.—Two little fireballs of the ring, Sixto Escobar and Lou Salica, clash at fifteen rounds here to-night for recognition as champion of all the fly-tamers, and sparks are certain to fly. Pre-battle statements from the training camps of the 115-pound speedsters reported both boys in top shape and the betting along cauliflower row—otherwise dingy 47th Street, between Broadway and 8th Avenue—was even money and take your pick.

Brunsdons Even Up Ball Series

Defeat Hillcrests 13 to 2 in Second of Vancouver Island Softball Championship Play-offs at Duncan; Final Game Here To-morrow Evening

The senior softball championship of Vancouver Island hinges on to-morrow evening's third and final game in the play-offs between Brunsdons' Boys of Esquimalt, Lower Island titlists, and Hillcrest Lumber Company, Mid-Island monarchs, following Brunsdons' sensational comeback at Duncan yesterday. After dropping the opening fixture, 9 to 7, here, the Esquimalt squad played almost airtight ball behind the sparkling pitching of Red Palmer, to walk over Hillcrests, 13 to 2, to tie up the series at one game apiece.

The teams are scheduled to clash in the deciding tussle at 6 o'clock at the Athletic Park.

After feeling each other out in the first innings, Brunsdons brought their bats to bear on the Hillcrest pitching and smacked out enough hits to score five runs in their half of the second frame.

From that point they kept increasing their margin until they had a 9 to 0 lead, and it looked as if Palmer was going to score a shutout.

At that point, however, Hillcrest finally broke into the score column with a single tally and added another before the game closed, while the Esquimalt nines piled up four more to make the final score 13 to 2.

After hitting their stride, Brunsdons' blasted three of the opposing hitters off the mound as the Hillcrest boys tried in vain to check the run-scoring spurges of the lower island champions.

The game to-morrow evening will be the first of two all-important fixtures for the Brunsdons. On Thursday they will meet the Poodie Bay Cats in the city final replay.

To-morrow: "The Magnificent Failure."

Eagles and Sons To Meet To-night

With visions of the championship within their grasp after winning the first of the five-game series of the Victoria Senior Baseball League play-offs, Sons of Canada will be out in full force this evening in an effort to garner their second successive victory over the Eagles, when they meet at the Athletic Park at 6 o'clock.

Manager Dave Essler will march out Jimmy Proudlove, ace mound man for the Eagles, to do the heavy work, with Henry Woodford as his battery mate. It is expected that either Alec Dick or Sonny Walker will do the pitching for the Sons of Canada with Massa Kuvahara as the backstop. Leo Holden will call the balls and strikes.

ALBIONS AND VICTORIA WIN

Defeat Duncan and Five C's in Regular Cricket League Fixtures

While smart bowling kept both teams under the century mark, Victoria Club won a well-contested Victoria and District Cricket League fixture from the Five C's at Macdonald Park on Saturday. At Duncan Albions had things very much their own way as they defeated Cowichan by 57 runs and five wickets. In a friendly at University School, Incogs took the measure of a numerically weak Victoria side in the other game on the weekend's programme.

Dyer with 37, Grant with 15 and Goward with 11 were high men as the Victoria side put up 94 against the churchmen. The Five C's replied with 79 as Goward led the Victoria bowlers with six wickets for 41 runs in fourteen overs.

Jack Payne, with seven wickets for 39 in 12.7 overs started in the bowling lists for the Five C's, while Quantin led the batters with a 31.

GOOD BATTING
Smith and Pritchard of the Albions, with 65 and 53 respectively, knocked out sufficient runs to defeat Cowichan in the game at Duncan. B. Saunders and C. W. Twine made fair stands for the uplanders, scoring 27 and 23 respectively, but the Cowichan team was dismissed for an even century.

Albions went on and scored 157 for the loss of five wickets. Smith and Freeman took five and four wickets for 46 and 27 runs respectively for the winners.

After putting up 213 runs for the loss of six wickets, Incogs retired eight Victoria batsmen for 63 runs in the friendly fixture played at University School.

NANAIMO LOST BITTER MATCH

Lucky Goal Gave Montreal Victory Saturday in Canadian Football Final

Winnipeg, Aug. 26.—The Dominion Football Association Challenge Trophy, emblematic of Canadian soccer supremacy, remains within the walls of old Quebec.

Picking up the threads where Verdun left them last season, Montreal Aldred won the blue ribbon of Dominion soccer with a 1 to 0 victory over Nanaimo in the fourth game of the east-west finals here Saturday.

For the first time in years, the challenge trophy stood unclaimed after the three-game series. Aldred won the first match 3 to 2, lost the second 7 to 3, and played through ninety gruelling minutes Friday to a 1 to 1 draw.

INKSTER BRILLIANT
All the tension and drama of a Canadian cup final was packed into the fourth match. The 1,900 spectators were thrilled time and again by Pete Inkster's superlative play in Nanaimo's net, by George Grey's courageous efforts, and lastly by Bob Campbell's goal four minutes from the end that spelled final for the western champions.

A gale-like wind played havoc with the ball. Montreal had a fair edge on the play in both halves, their attack carrying a little more sting, but the footballers from the Pacific Coast had an iron-bound rear-guard that threw back everything Aldred could fire at them.

With a little more than four minutes to go, it appeared the leg-weary teams would be forced to play extra time. Tom McIntosh went on for Larry Fitzpatrick at centre forward and here fresh man power told.

Abbie Bejhat shook the crossbar with a wicked volley that had Inkster beaten. Charlie Fitzpatrick lobbed a tricky shot into the centre by Gavin cleared. The ball dropped at Campbell's foot and the Aldred left half drove it at the net.

Inkster came out of his net, jumped and swung his fist. The ball, caught by a wisp of wind as the Nanaimo goalie swung, curled around his hand, and dropped into the corner of the net. Montreal pinned the far westerners in their own territory and almost scored again as Dave McLean missed an open net right on time.

MINGLING OF AMATEURS AND PROS IN BASKETBALL MAY BE HARDWICK'S AIM

Calgary, Aug. 26.—Cheaper amateur cards for basketball players and more liberty for western Canada teams will be asked for, it is understood, by Walter Hardwick, Vancouver, first vice-president of the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association as a result of a conference with Alberta basketball officials over the week-end.

No definite details of the meeting were made available, but it is understood the officials also discussed a change in rules to allow mingling of amateurs and professionals. Mr. Hardwick came here to discuss differences between the Alberta body and the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada.

GOLF WEEK AT BANFF STARTS

Teams From Calgary Capture Matches as Popular Tourney Opens

Banff, Aug. 26.—Calgary Country Club's team of four men and women, yesterday made a clean sweep of the new tournament that introduced the sixth annual golf week at Banff Springs Hotel with players entered representing widely scattered sections of Canada and the United States and one woman from London, England.

Playing remarkably consistent golf on the roof of the world course, where par is seventy-one, the men's championship team turned in a score of 331, individual scores being J. Leslie Bell 79, G. D. McWilliams 80, J. Chaston 80 and G. W. Dwyer 72. This gave them a twenty-seven point edge on their nearest rivals, the Bowness Golf Club, Calgary, with a team score of 358.

The women's team from the Calgary Country Club turned in a nice 421 to take the silverware for their event. Individual efforts being Mrs. J. T. Gray, provincial champion, 97, Miss

Rainville Beats Surface in Final

Seignior Club, Que., Aug. 26.—Marcell Rainville, diminutive Davis cupper and first ranking Canadian tennis star, yesterday won the Seignior Club invitation tourney by defeating his old rival, Hal Surface, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2. Rainville is the first Canadian in four years to win the title captured last year by Frankie Parker. The latter was unable to defend the title this year.

St. Louis Cardinals Take Over Lead In National League

Whip Brooklyn Club Twice To Hurdle Giants

Paul and Dizzy Hurl Team Into First Place; Giants Beaten By Cubs

Cleveland Fans Stage Near Riot

If the Chicago Cubs don't accomplish anything else this season, they can claim credit for being the club that knocked the New York Giants out of the National League lead. And right now it looks as if the New Yorkers would have a very tough time trying to get back to the top.

It was the Cubs who put the skids under the Terrymen more than anything else when they took four straight out in Chicago last month and they completed the task yesterday by knocking off the Giants for the third time in four starts, 5 to 4, to put the grizzled leaders a half-game behind St. Louis Cardinals.

DEANS WIN TWO
The Cards did their share by trimming the Brooklyn Dodgers twice, 10 to 3 and 6 to 1, behind the Dean brothers—the boys who pitched St. Louis to a pennant and a world championship last year.

The Giants made a fine effort to avert yesterday's defeat. Hal Schumacher was wild and the Cubs built up a 5 to 1 lead with Mel Ott's twenty-ninth homer as the only New York run. Then the Giants got busy and drove Bill Lee out but failed to get the tying run. Meanwhile the Cards belted Johnny Babich for five runs in the second inning of the opener and went on to give Jerome Dizzy Dean his twenty-second mound victory. They followed up with eleven more blows while Paul Dean held the Dodgers to eight.

The American League action again centered around the three-way struggle for third place and a series of doubleheaders ended with Boston Red Sox jumping from fifth to third and Chicago and Cleveland winding up in a virtual tie for fourth.

The Red Sox beat the Indians twice, 5 to 4 and 8 to 2, winning the opener with a two-run rally in the ninth and the nightcap with a seventeen-hit barrage while Cleveland winding up in a near riot in protest over a reversed decision. Umpire Brick Owens called Melillo's bunt foul, then after consulting with Lou Kolls at first changed the ruling.

HEAVE BOTTLES

Fans heaved pop bottles and dashed out on the field and the ump's got police protection when they went home.

Chicago split a bargain bill with the New York Yankees, winning 6 to 3 behind John Whitehead's three-hit hurling then losing 6 to 1 as Lou Gehrig struck the keynote with his twenty-fourth homer. The split put the Yanks eight and a half games behind the league-leading Detroit Tigers, who walloped Philadelphia 6 to 3.

STAR OF U.S. TENNIS TEAM

Tiny but determined, and not even ranked among the first ten tennis players, it was Mrs. Ethel Burkhardt Arnold (left), of California, who clinched United States' Wimbledon Cup victory over the stars of Great Britain. At right is an action scene during the match at Forest Hills, N.Y., when Mrs. Arnold (foreground) took the lead over Miss Kay Stammers, the conqueror of Helen Jacobs.

Cowichan Boy Wins Field Trial Honors

Norman Lord's Gordon Setter Captures All-age Stake in Competition of Victoria and District Gun-Dog Club; Event is Great Success

Gordon setters covered themselves with glory yesterday at the field trials of the Victoria and District Gun-Dog Club held on the Matsen farm in North Saanich. The all-age stake was won by Norman H. Lord's Cowichan Boy. E. Clayard's Cowichan Flash placed second in both the junior and the all-age stake, and Norman H. Lord's Cowichan Mack, handled by A. Jordan, placed third in both stakes—a wonderful testimony to the great bird-finding and handling ability of this old breed of hunting-dog.

The weather was delightful and a wonderful outing was enjoyed by those who attended the trials. Birds were present in good numbers, but, owing to the dry weather, were inclined to stick to the thick cover, with the result that some of the dogs which draw courses over the open stubble had little or no opportunity to handle birds.

Naturally, the dogs which were lucky enough to draw the best courses figured most prominently in the prize lists. The junior stake was judged by Tom Dick, well-known local dog-fancier. In this event, the two Gordon setters, Cowichan Flash and Cowichan Mack, worked well and located a number of pheasants in a patch of dense cover. The judge was particularly impressed with the work of "Flash."

H. Rumber's Rex, paired with Gypsy D., ran a good, ground-searching heat, Gypsy securing quite a spectacular point just at the end of the heat.

Norman Lord's red setter, Shaun of Sunnyside, ran as a bye and located several pheasants. Cowichan Flash was judged first, Gypsy D. second and Cowichan Mack third.

ALL-AGE CLASS
L. O. Hillier of Vancouver, one of Canada's leading authorities on field-trials and field-trial dogs, officiated as judge of the all-age stake, and expressed himself as being very much impressed by the good work and general finish displayed by most of the contestants.

In this stake some of the dogs which ran beautiful ground-working heats were handicapped by the absence of birds on their courses. Among those may be mentioned Jack Rutherford's veteran pointer Sport, J. R. Clark's Geoffrey D. and Thorp Cloud Ann, owned by Frank Topp Turner and handled by Beau Turner.

The following dogs competed: Pointers, Charles Fisher's Trif. J. Rutherford's Sport, Leslie Dick's Pep; English setters, Tom Brown's Pep, G. Paine's Bill, J. R. Clark's Geoffrey D., J. Whitaker's Sport, F. T. Turner's Thorp Cloud Ann; Gordon setters, E.

Young-Nelson In Match Race

Toronto, Aug. 26.—A special match race between George Young, the "Catalina Kid," Toronto, and Philadelphia, and Marvin Nelson, Fort Dodge, Iowa, has been arranged for "some night next week," sports officials of the Canadian National Exhibition announced to-day.

The five-mile swimming contest will be over the one course, for $2,750, the winner taking down $2,000 as his share.

Nelson and Young, both now in Toronto, have been issuing challenges at each other for some days.

Clayard's Cowichan Flash, N. H. Lord's Cowichan Boy and Cowichan Mack. Results: J. Cowichan Boy, 2; Cowichan Flash; 3; Pep II and Cowichan Mack (equal). Highly commended, Rutherford's Sport; commended, Thorp Cloud Ann, Geoffrey D. and Pep.

At the close of the trials a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the two judges for their services in judging the trials which are attracting a large and steadily increasing following of sportsmen.

Mr. Hillier, in commenting on the work of the dogs, stated that, in his opinion, the local dogs were superior in bird-finding and steadiness to those appearing in trials on the mainland.

DONOVAN IS GOLF CHAMP

Crack Winnipeg Amateur Captures Annual Tournament at Syracuse

Syracuse, N.Y., Aug. 26.—Bud Donovan, Winnipeg, who will start shooting with a couple hundred other crack golfers two weeks hence for the United States amateur crown, to-day held the winner's medal for the sixth annual Syracuse Yacht Club tournament.

The young Manitoba master overcame a brief streak of untidiness that followed a break of rough luck to down Howard Tryon, Elmira, N.Y., 2 and 1, in the thirty-six-hole final here yesterday.

Joe Thompson, Hamilton, Ont., another competitor who is also headed for the national amateur starting at Cleveland, September 6, went out in the quarter finals.

TROMBONE IS DESTROYED

Seattle, Aug. 25.—Tragedy followed the running of the $10,000 Longacres mile on Saturday afternoon. Late in the evening Don Grant's brilliant performer Trombone was destroyed by Dr. J. J. Mitten to alleviate the pain from a badly shattered right fore leg. Trombone broke down during the race but for a time it was thought he could be saved. Yesterday the third tragedy occurred when My Prospero, owned by Dave Christian, Texas, suffered a seriously lacerated leg in the second race and had to be destroyed.

WORLD SWIM RECORDS GO

Mary Lou Petty, Seattle, Shatters Two Marks at Coast Championships

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 26.—Three world swimming records went into the discard yesterday at the Pacific Coast A.A.U. meet at Transbay Coronado. Mary Lou Petty accounted for two of them and helped break the third.

As a member of the Washington Athletic Club's women's team Miss Petty swam the 800-metre freestyle in 11 minutes 34 seconds, one and six-tenths seconds better than Lenore Knight's listed record.

In the first lap of the 800-metre relay, Miss Petty clipped off the 200 metres in 2:34, setting the mark of 2:34 set by Helena M. Dixon.

The relay team, consisting of Miss Petty, Olive McKean, Doris Buckley and Betty Lea, finished the relay in 10 minutes 36 seconds, far ahead of the record of 11 minutes 10 seconds set by a Homestead, Pa., quartette headed by Miss Knight.

TED LUTHER WINS
Hershey, Pa., Aug. 26.—Ted Luther, Girard, Ohio, won the Hershey open golf championship yesterday by defeating Felix Serafin, Scranton, Pa., in a second eighteen-hole playoff. Luther carded a 75, two over par, and Serafin 80.

Coldwater Scores Stunning Victory

Rank Outsider Takes First Running of $10,000 Mile at Longacres Track; Biff Second and Joey Third; Goldstream Finishes Next to Last; Chictoney Destroyed

Seattle, Aug. 26.—Out of the clouds from where strange things emanate, Saturday poured Coldwater, the gift horse belonging to Mrs. Richard F. Carman Jr., Maryland, to win the first running of the $10,000 Longacres mile in a hair-raising finish that saw the favored Biff, owned by Frank Ianni, Dallas, Texas, beaten by a nose for $9,350, the winner's share of the richest mile race of the American turf.

Some 8,000 customers thrilled to the very marrow as Biff and Coldwater, the former a jump in front and conceding sixteen pounds to the Carman horse, began their skirmish as the field rounded into the backstretch. Here Biff took the front, running away from Jass Band and Goldstream and then found Coldwater right at his saddle girth.

GREAT DUEL
At the half mile ground the two were almost stride for stride. Then at the far turn Coldwater drew into his full form and stride just as Biff began to feel his weight and then found himself tiring under the terrific pressure and the driving of Jockey Mel Knight. But Biff kept right at his work, the most courageous thoroughbred yet to be seen this side of the Rockies in this land of the evergreen.

Into the stretch they whirled, Biff on the fence and Coldwater, under Jockey Bill Robertson, on the outside, picking up inch by inch until well into the home lane, far removed from the others.

At this point the clever Knight rose to the very height of his riding form to suddenly snatch a bit more margin from Coldwater and shove Biff forward, seemingly to draw away for a moment from the persistent Coldwater. But Robertson and the Carman horse were headed for victory. It was not to be denied them.

At the sixteen pole Coldwater gained the head end, just a fraction of an inch, but it was enough. Robertson and Coldwater could not fall then.

WINNER BY NOSE
To the accompaniment of the mighty roar from the stands, Coldwater jumped across the line the winner—by a nose.

That nose was worth $9,350 to Mrs. Richard Carman and her husband, who does the training of the Carman horses and who obtained the horse from John March of Chicago, for almost a song.

Coldwater and Biff led the Canadian mile. Joey, from the C. I. Jacques Stable of Winnipeg, by four lengths, while Joey barely lasted to hold third place from Bye Lo, one-half of the Major Austin C. Taylor flying circus from Vancouver, B.C. Black Forest, racing in the Caneane Stable silt, was fifth and the others were strung out for a half mile down the course. Acey Smith's Goldstream being next to last and then followed by Chictoney.

CHICTONEY DESTROYED
At the very height of the battle of the giants of the handicap division, death took the reins astride one of the favored contenders, to bring one of the saddest touches to a brilliant event. Just when it seemed Chictoney, owned by H. H. Crowell, La Jolla, Calif., would rush forward and into the very teeth of contention, the California flash broke his right hind ankle, and barely hobbled in, to stop in front of the paddock gate. There the veterinarian's syringe ended his career as a race horse. Chictoney had to be destroyed as the only humane act the white hundreds of customers looked on in horror and amazement, combined. It was the first case of its kind at Longacres.

There was the accident at the first turn, as the unwieldy group jammed in the wild scramble to gain positions. Mrs. Lonnice Copenhaver's High Tension, ridden by Apprentice Chictoney "Junior" Schultz of San Pedro, Calif., fell, and the boy was knocked off unconscious moments later, but came to quickly and was found to be safe from injury.

The third casualty of the big race of the northwest was the crippling of Trombone. Don Grant's representative and holder of the mile record for Longacres, Trombone broke down, not seriously, in the run around the far turn just as he rushed forward into contention. He will not race again for some time.

The unwieldy field and the bad scrambles at the first two turns were the causes for the time of 1:37 3-8 for the Longacres mile, well removed from the track record of 1:37.

But the big hit other than that terrific punch when Coldwater pushed his nose across the wire first, was in the pari-mutuel payoff. Coldwater was a member of the pari-mutuel field with High Tension, Black Forest, Chief Almgren, Voting Hour, returning those courageous the large sum of $41.20 straight, $11.60 to place and $5.30 to show.

SUMMER HEALTH STANDARD HIGH

As officials of the city health department continued their routine work to-day they regarded another summer period virtually devoid of any serious illness.

"As usual," Dr. Richard Felton, city health officer, stated, "the summer has passed along without any serious cases of disease arising. The city's climate and general healthy conditions appear to care largely for the welfare of the citizens at this period of the year."

"With the exception of one or two minor cases of chicken pox, no infectious or contagious diseases have been reported worth note during the last month or two."

"The situation is not at all unusual for Victoria during the summer. We very rarely have anything of a serious nature to handle during the warm weather."

For offering his taxi for hire at other than an authorized stand, in contravention to a city by-law, James Atkinson was fined $5 in the City Police Court this morning.

STAGE PICNIC AT DEEP COVE

Every Branch of Printing
Trades Represented at
Sports Yesterday

Men representing every phase of the printing business from the paper supply companies to the press room, with their families, enjoyed an afternoon and evening of sports and entertainment at the Chalet, Deep Cove, yesterday.

Perfect weather added to the success of the picnic, which was staged by the Allied Printing Trades and attended by the best part of 400 men, women and children.

In the softball game between The Times and The Colonist teams for the Poodle Dog Cup, the latter came out victors for the second year in succession. The Colonist's battery was Borde and Delahanty, and The Times, Nute and Richardson. The score was 13-7.

Another feature attraction of the picnic, held after supper, was the softball contest between the Paper Supply and the Allied Printing Trades for the Paper Supply Trophy. The 8 to 6, with Nute and Delahanty as battery, against Glazen, Restall, Paterson and Milne for the Paper Supply.

The trophy was presented personally by Thomas Scott, manager of the Columbia Paper Co. ny.

SPORTS RESULTS

Winners in the final-between victors in the various union events were T. Nute Jr. D. Clarke and A. Stewart.

Results in other events staged during the afternoon and evening were as follows:

NEWS IN BRIEF

Theft of two gold watches and a gold locket on Friday night, from her premises at 755 View Street, has been reported to the city police by Mrs. C. Priddy.

A meeting of Ward Three Sanction Ratepayers' Association will be held at 8 o'clock this evening in the Scout Hall, Cadboro Bay, to discuss the transportation question in the district.

A public meeting will be held to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock in the Scout Hall, Cadboro Bay, to explain the arrangements made in regard to transportation for the Cadboro Bay district. All interested are asked to attend.

Entries for the annual fall fair of the British Columbia Agricultural Association will be received up to next Saturday at the association's downtown office, Room 215, Sayward Building. All those intending to exhibit must file their entries by August 31.

Arnold Webster, provincial president of the C.C.P., will address a public meeting at the Chamber of Commerce to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock. His subject will be "The One Way Out." Rev. Robert Connell, M.P.P., and Prof. King Gordon, federal candidate for Victoria, will be on the platform.

Corporal J. R. Morris, secretary of the First Battalion Pipe Band, Canadian Scottish Regiment, to-day issued a call to all drummers and pipers in and around Victoria to attend a meeting in the Armories this evening at 8 o'clock to discuss possibilities of organizing a Vancouver Island drummers and pipers association.

Charged with the theft of documents from the Victoria Piggers and Transport Workers Association hall at 38 Ontario Street, Fred Snelling was arraigned before Magistrate Jay in the City Police Court this morning. A. J. Patton, his counsel, requested an adjournment until next Tuesday. It was granted.

Two public meetings will be held this evening in the interests of J. S. Taylor, C.C.P. candidate in the Nanaimo riding, one at 8 o'clock in St. Michael's Hall, Royal Oak, where Mr. Taylor will be chief speaker, and the other at the same time in the Mari-gold Hall, Ward 4, Saanich, where Robert Connell, Leader of the Opposition, will speak.

Fourteen-year-old David Sutherland, 3388 Eraser Street, suffered a painful injury to his groin while sliding down an electric light pole on Government Street on Saturday night. He was given first aid treatment at the city police station, after which he was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital where Dr. E. W. Book attended him.

The Junior Moose Drum Corps will meet at 717 Discovery Street at 8 o'clock to-morrow night. To discuss plans for the fall and winter activities. This drum corps has progressed rapidly since its formation two years ago, being the means of much publicity for Victoria and Vancouver Island. This drum corps was awarded second prize at the recent Northwest Moose Convention.

Attorney-General Sloan returned this morning from a trip through Kamloops and the Okanagan Valley, during which he inspected provincial police units at many points. Later he plans a trip through the remainder of the province to complete his tour of inspection. Mr. Sloan voiced admiration for the personnel of the force, and the efficiency and discretion they showed in discharging their duties.

Sailing in Foul Bay just off of Three Sisters Rock two young ladies, Roger O'Connell and Ormond Griffin, capsized in the latter's canoe, the Sinbad, this morning several hundred yards off shore. Several boats in the bay rushed to the rescue. Walter Wilson and Dorothy Adams in the former's boat took in one of the boys and Malcolm Gardiner and Alan Thompson took the other from the water. Bill Wright and George Watkins went out in Dave Grant's boat and towed the canoe ashore.

Native Daughter Widely Mourned

The death occurred Saturday at St. Joseph's Hospital of Mrs. Margaret Estelle Munro, wife of Mr. F. C. Munro of 1115 Mason Street.

Mrs. Munro was born in Victoria forty-one years ago, and leaves many friends to mourn her passing. She is survived by her husband and one son, Kenneth Charles Munro, at home; her mother, Mrs. Mary Munro, of 1119 Quadra Street; one brother, John James McDonald in Vancouver and one sister, Mrs. M. G. Hunter, residing in Vancouver.

The funeral will take place to-morrow morning, the cortege leaving the Sands' Mortuary Chapel at 8:30 o'clock, and at 9 o'clock mass will be celebrated at St. Andrew's Cathedral, by Rev. Father G. A. Gaudette. The remains will be laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Sidney Man Found With Throat Cut

James Ormand of Sidney was found with his throat cut in the barn of Ingrid Olson, a neighbor, on Queens Road, Sidney, this morning, according to Constable George Heimling of the Provincial Police.

He was rushed to Rest Haven, but is not expected to recover.

Mr. Ormand was discovered by Paul Olson in his brother's barn.

Last rites were conducted by Dean Qualton this morning over the late Thomas Earle Hane, who passed away Friday at the family residence, 345 Vancouver Street. The remains were forwarded this afternoon to Vancouver for cremation.

"Continued fine and warm" is the prophecy of F. Napier Denison, superintendent of the Dominion Meteorological Observatory, Gonzales Heights, for the next day or two. Despite heavy rain on the coast of northern British Columbia, there is no immediate prospect of change here, and the barometer continues high.

The temperature at the Observatory was eighty-two degrees, with the chance of an increase during the afternoon. The figure would be considerably higher in the downtown section, said Mr. Denison.

Police Seeking Hit-run Driver

Chinaman Reports He Was Carried Several Yards By Car

City police to-day announced a summons had been issued against an alleged hit-and-run driver who is reported to have carried a Chinaman several feet after striking him at the corner of Yates and Government Streets on Saturday evening. The Chinaman was Chin Yong, 611 Chatham Street, who was taken to hospital for treatment.

Yong reported he was crossing Government Street from the east to the west side and was struck by a car which was travelling west on Yates Street and turning north on Government Street. He said he was carried several yards by the car, which failed to stop. He was removed to the Jubilee Hospital where Dr. A. D. Bechtel attended him.

Miss E. D. Pearson, 1280 McKenzie Street, and a woman companion narrowly escaped injury in an accident shortly after 9 o'clock this morning at the corner of Hillside and Blackwood Avenues. Miss Pearson was driving north on Blackwood Avenue and was in collision with a car driven west on Hillside Avenue by Mrs. J. B. Kennedy, 3033 Cedar Hill Road. The Pearson car turned a complete circle and then rolled over on its side after the impact, according to a police report.

There was nothing wrong with the present system of part government so far as its basic intent was concerned. The fault and the ruin of it were in its execution.

The present crisis faced by Canada, said Mr. Campbell, was the result of government attitude over a period of many years. It was not to be laid at the door of any one party. And no one party could deal with these problems without committing political suicide.

Canada could not afford to wait for party government to die a slow death by the mutilation of the economic position of the nation.

Mr. Campbell termed the present parties "futile bodies incapable of dealing effectively with national problems."

PROBLEMS INTERLOCKED

These problems, he said, were chiefly unemployment, the cost of government, tariffs, the national debt, the British North America Act, the railways, and wheat. No one of them could be taken separately, without involving all the others.

They were the direct result of political expediency, the easy spending in good times, aided and abetted by the attitude of the taxpayer, who believed that all could be paid for by the government, forgetting that the payments came eventually from his own pockets.

INARTICULATE OPINION

It was with this situation in mind that a body of business men had got together in Toronto last March, with the object of getting business principles applied at Ottawa, and of making articulate the large and inarticulate body of public opinion that realized the faults of the present system of government.

"We believe that public opinion, in strength and properly organized, is irresistible."

The structure of the league provided for municipal, provincial and federal committees, provincial committees, and co-ordinating them a national council.

League members would demand of party candidates that they pledge themselves to call for non-party government if the interests of the nation were best to be served by it.

"Britain, Australia and South Africa have chosen national governments to save themselves from bankruptcy; why should not Canada follow their lesson?"

The speaker was thanked by Cuthbert Holmes, who stated that the Campbells were apparently coming to the aid of Canada as they had to that later.

Among guests at the luncheon were: D. B. Plunkett, M.P. for Victoria; Brigadier J. Sutherland Brown; Professor C. B. Wood of the faculty of the University of British Columbia; John Cochrane of the Canadian Club; and Herbert Pendray, president of the Rotary Club.

Mrs. H. W. Bentley Called to Rest

Mrs. Ann Amelia Bentley, wife of Homer W. Bentley, passed away yesterday evening at the family residence, 1506 Ryan Street. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Mrs. Bentley was born in Toronto on March 17, 1872. She is survived by her husband, at home; two daughters, Mrs. E. B. Neve, Grand Forks; Miss Jeannette Bentley, at home; three sons, M. L. Bentley, Nelson; D. W. Bentley, Creston, B.C.; and L. H. Bentley, Miles City, Montana, and a brother and a sister in Toronto.

MANY ATTEND FUNERAL

Many friends attended the funeral of Mrs. Lerina Allen Saturday afternoon, Rev. Canon A. del. Nunn conducted the service, during which the hymns "When the Light Never Shines" and "Abide With Me" were sung. A delegation from the Women's Benefit Association was present.

A profusion of floral tributes was received. The following were pallbearers: R. B. Elliott, A. Dawson, G. H. Gardiner, F. E. Bonnell, W. A. Blake and A. Langridge. The remains were laid at rest in the family plot in Royal Oak Burial Park.

FOR NATIONAL GOVERNMENT

Basil B. Cameron Addresses Gyros and Guests at Luncheon

"The League for National Government for Canada believes there is in Canada a great body of public opinion willing to sponsor a national body towards a national congress," Basil B. Campbell, founder and organizer of the league, told members of the Gyro Club and guests from outside clubs and organizations at the Gyros' luncheon in the Empress Hotel grillroom to-day.

Mr. Campbell expounded the principles on which the league is based, the problems which it is designed to face, its history and its future plans.

It was, he said, definitely an amateur movement; its plans were made for the immediately coming year, realizing that the people of Canada were at present especially politically minded, and its aims were "to achieve for you that measure of good government that is your due."

NON-PARTISAN

The league was definitely a political organization, and equally definitely a non-partisan one.

In the period of unrest and uncertainty old values were being questioned and old standards being thrown into the discard, and there was a widespread feeling that something was radically wrong with the government of Canada.

Agitators, many of them of the pink-tea, so-called intellectual type, were undermining the democratic form of government.

DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENT

The League for National Government for Canada upheld that democratic form of government, but in the intent with which it was laid down in the constitution, as a government by the people for the people, not by party for a party.

The conception of party government, the basic and irrefragable conception of it, as a government by His Majesty's Government, and His Majesty's Loyal Opposition, was being forgotten; instead it had become a battle between Whig and Tory, each intent on gaining the utmost for itself.

There was nothing wrong with the present system of part government so far as its basic intent was concerned. The fault and the ruin of it were in its execution.

TEST RUN FOR ROGERS FILM

Posthumous Release of

"Steamboat 'Round the Bend" Announced

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 26.—Whether theatregoers will want to see and hear Will Rogers, now he is gone, will be determined in test runs of one of his last two pictures, "Steamboat 'Round the Bend." The film is being shown in a number of cities now.

There is little precedent for the posthumous release of a talkie starring an actor so prominent.

After Rudolph Valentino's death his silent picture, "Son of the Sheik," became a box-office bonanza. Near riots of women threatened at some theatres showing the film and now, nine years later, his revived pictures are proving popular.

Silent revivals featuring the late Wallace Reid, Barbara La Marr and Mabel Normand have not been well received.

But whether theatregoers now will care to hear the recorded voice of Will Rogers seemed to be the chief question over which officials at his studio were divided. One argument was that voices of famous singers and actors have been enjoyed through phonograph recordings many years after they were dead.

Monkey Escapes With Man's Hat

"Al Capone," Among Animals Who Escaped from Frank Buck's Zoo in New York State, Too Fast for Would-be Captor

Associated Press Massapequa, N.Y., Aug. 26.—"Al Capone," scarified leader of a gang of monkeys, which escaped from Frank Buck's zoo, had a new hat today, as the result of a daring raid on would-be captors.

His victim was L. V. Longbottom, who attempted the capture during a motor trip yesterday. Spying a monkey troupe in the woods, he brought his car and tried to lure the animals to him. Some of them ventured near enough to grab the bananas, but scampered away.

Finally one of them—Longbottom thought must be "Capone"—snatched the hat and fled like the wind.

Meantime the zoo reported all but twenty-one of the 173 monkeys which escaped last Wednesday had been recaptured, or accounted for. A number are known to have been killed in accidents.

LOSES WITH HIGH CARDS

Declarer Fails to Figure Defence's Probable Holding, Which Would Have Assured His Contract

By WM. E. MCKENNEY Secretary, American Bridge League Bridge is a game of tricks, and if the pun may be pardoned, more than one kind of tricks. Aces and kings are important, but a wily player can sometimes compensate for their absence. If the fortunate card-holder cannot match his opponents with equal shrewdness, high cards may be of no avail.

In to-day's hand, declarer could count nine sure tricks if the club finesse held, with the added possibility of a trick or two in spades at the end. He won the first diamond trick in his own hand and finessed the jack of clubs. When this held the trick, it seemed like clear sailing. Declarer returned to his hand with a heart, and took another club finesse, but this time East stepped in with the queen.

East returned a diamond, which South ducked, but the next lead forced out his other diamond stopper. Play now being over, he had to lose another diamond and two spades, being defeated one trick.

East made an excellent play in refusing to win the first club. If he had won it, declarer would have had eight solid tricks, and could easily win the ninth by forcing a spade lead from West.

If declarer had been a little more suspicious, he could still have made three, no trump in spite of East's holdup. West's spade bid and diamond lead indicated length in both of those suits, so he was probably short in clubs. Even if he held the queen, it would be likely to drop under the ace king.

When the jack held the first club trick, declarer should have played his two high clubs at once. He should then cash his high hearts and diamonds, and throw West into the lead with the deuce of diamonds. West could take two diamond tricks, but would then have only spades to lead. Declarer, having already taken seven tricks, would thus make both the king and jack of spades to fulfill his contract.

MADGE EVANS TO PLAY AT

Drama, romance, suspense and adventure are the film diet offered in Paramount's thrilling Department of Justice picture, "Men Without Names," which will open at the Dominion Theatre to-morrow, with Fred MacMurray and Madge Evans heading the featured cast.

True adventures of America's brave army of crime fighting sleuths are alleged to be the basis of the plot of "Men Without Names."

Ruthless gangsters who commit a brutal armed truck robbery in Brooklyn are the prey of the federal police in this picture. Tracked by money, they are followed to a small Kansas town, where the trail disappears.

Masquerading as a big business man, Fred MacMurray goes to the town from which the bills are coming gains the confidence of local personalities and uncovers the trail of the gang.

The added feature will be "Smart Girl," starring Ida Lupino.

JOLSON, KEELER AT COLUMBIA

The sensation of the year in the film world is the teaming of Al Jolson, famous Mammy singer who first introduced the talking pictures, and Ruby Keeler, his wife, former Broadway musical comedy star, who leaped to fame in the movies in two years, in First National's latest, and said to be its greatest, musical spectacle, "Go Into Your Dance," scheduled as the feature attraction at the Columbia Theatre to-day.

While the picture is a mammoth musical spectacle, it carries a well-defined plot and a fascinating romance with tender emotional scenes, interspersed with hilarious comedy relief. The story is by Bradford Ropes, the author of "42nd Street."

From the dull and drab life of a small town orphanage to a sunny, palatial mansion in Southampton adequately sums up the quick rise to luxury and happiness enjoyed by Shirley Temple in her new picture, "Curly Top," now at the Capitol Theatre.

In this new Fox film comedy-drama with music, Shirley, along with Rochelle Hudson, who portrays the role of her big sister, are adopted by John Boles and taken from an orphanage to his palatial summer home.

Shirley and Rochelle enter upon their new life with all the joy of two youngsters in a dreamland of happiness. Shirley's new-found happiness blossoms forth into laughter, song and dance and soon her charm and childish pranks form the foundation of a delightful romance between John Boles and Rochelle Hudson.

Vaudeville Act Popular Feature

Elmer Cleve, of Toronto, is featured with his company on the stage at the Playhouse Theatre for a three-day engagement. The vaudeville act which was greeted with tremendous applause at the new Lyric Theatre in Vancouver last week is being presented at four shows daily until Wednesday evening.

Mr. Cleve heads the act with a light and breezy variety on humor and smart xylophone numbers. Marylyn Keller, a charming and clever young dancer rounds out the act with Professor Cheer, "the silent stooge," whose antics and musical numbers on his comic accordion and musical saw are bright and enjoyable.

The main feature on the screen is "Cardinal Richelieu." George Arliss' latest triumph. It is based on Sir Edward Bulwer-Lytton's famous play.

At What Age Do Men Make the Best Husbands? Urges Girls To Marry Men Who Are About Thirty

A GIRL WANTS TO KNOW how old men should be when they marry and at what age they are likely to make the best husbands. Well, there are two schools of thought among women on this subject.

One holds to the theory that it is best to catch 'em when they are young and bring 'em up in the way you want them to go. They contend that an old husband is like an old dog. You can't teach him new tricks, and that after a man is set in his ways no wife can change him and make him see how superior hers are. How much better it is to spend money on French confections than it is to waste it on tobacco, for instance, and how much more real pleasure is to be derived from attending an improving lecture than sitting in a poker game with the boys.

They also assert that the only thoroughly house-broken husbands are those who are trained to turning in their pay envelopes to the little woman, drying the dishes after dinner, and pushing the perambulator while still in their puppyhoods, so to speak. And so they are all for grabbing a boy the minute his mother cuts her apron string and tying him to a wife's before he ever gets a breath of freedom, or hears the call of the wild, or finds out that he can roam.

Furthermore, they argue that men are more adaptable in youth and adjust themselves more easily to the matrimonial yoke, and that husbands and wives who grow up together just automatically grow alike.

The other school of thought is all for the "sugar papa," the man who is old enough to have made his fortune and to be able to have his wife do nothing but sit on a silk cushion and sew up a seam and feed upon strawberries, sugar and cream.

They back up their position by quoting the old adage that it is better to be an old man's darling than a young man's slave, and they point out that the man who marries late in life is almost invariably inordinately proud of his wife, overindulgent to her and much less critical and demanding than the young husband is.

There are weak spots in both of these theories. The main one in the cradle-snatching contention is that marrying a boy husband adds an almost insuperable risk to matrimony, since no one can tell how he is going to turn out, or what he is going to develop into, or whether his wife will want him or not after he is grown up. Nor is he as pliable and adaptable and amenable to discipline as a woman befores herself into thinking he will be. There is nobody else on earth so cocksure that he is Solomon as a boy. Nobody so determined to do his own way. Nobody so selfish and inconsiderate of the rights of others.

On the other hand, while the middle-aged or elderly husband is a safe bet as a good provider, there are other aspects of the case that are not so desirable. For one thing, he is a little shopworn. Whatever romance and sentiment he started out with has lost its freshness and lustre and is frayed around the edges, and life with him is likely to be a steady diet of plain roast beef and boiled potatoes.

He has been everywhere and done everything and seen everything and he can't understand why a wife wants to step out and isn't satisfied to sit at home and hear him grumble about the stock market and complain about his rheumatism. And he has habits that are as firmly fixed as the Rock of Gibraltar, and he can never understand why a wife who does her own work can't cook like a chef and give him the service that he got at a first-class club or hotel.

So, being as how both youth and age have faults that are peculiarly their own, if a girl is picking out a husband by his age, the best choice is the happy medium between the two. Say around the thirties, a little on the twenty side, perhaps. That is the ideal time for a man to marry, because at that age he is young enough to be fiery and romantic and ardent and yet old enough to be a good husband and to marry for keeps instead of the passion of the moment.

The girl who marries a man of thirty doesn't get a pig in a poke. What he is going to be, he is. She can look him over and take him or leave him. Nor need she worry about his tiring of her. He has known many women and escaped many matrimonial snares, and when he marries a woman it is because she has the qualities he likes and of which he will not weary. Business experience has taught him how to get along with people and sell himself even to a wife. He has learned the value of teamwork and so he is pretty sure to do his part in helping to make his marriage a success.

Hence, taking it all in all, the man around thirty is the preferred matrimonial risk.

Uncle Wiggily's Mystery

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Uncle Wiggily, who had been out in the woods and fields looking for an adventure, hopped home to his summer cottage at Green Lake one day. Before going in, however, the old rabbit gentleman looked carefully all around the place. He twinkled his pink nose as if smelling for danger.

Bunny Bunty, who was lying down in some deep clover where it was shady, saw Uncle Wiggily looking around and sniffing but he didn't see the little orphan rabbit.

"I wonder," said Bunty to himself, "why Uncle Wiggily acts so funny? It's as if he didn't want anybody to see him going in the cottage. And he has a large box in his paws. I wonder what it is!"

Bunty, without showing herself, looked and listened as he hid himself in the clover. But she couldn't see what Uncle Wiggily had in the large box and she couldn't tell why he was sniffing and he didn't know why he was going in the cottage so slyly, as if he were afraid of being seen.

Nobody home

"He can't be playing hide-and-go-seek," thought Bunty. "There's nobody around except me who might play the game with him, and he doesn't know I'm here." This was true. All the rabbit children were off in the woods or fields or down at Green Lake playing. Nurse Jane and Mrs. Longears had gone to the hill to pick blackberries for a pie. There was no one in the cottage. Perhaps that is what Uncle Wiggily wanted to find out.

At any rate, after making sure no one saw him the old rabbit gentleman hopped inside and closed the door very carefully.

"This is a mystery," said Baby Bunty in the clover.

All of a sudden Baby Bunty hopped out of the clover and ran down to the lake where Jingle and Jangle were wading in the water. The little orphan said:

"Uncle Wiggily just came home and he has a mystery."

"What's a mystery?" asked Jingle.

"A mystery," said the orphan rabbit, "is something you want to find out but can't."

"It is like as if I wanted to find out if I could jump over a mud puddle!" asked Jingle. "And when I tried I couldn't and I fell in the mud. Is that a mystery?"

"No, not exactly," said Bunty. "A mystery is more like somebody asks you to guess something and you can't but you want to very much and it makes you feel funny inside because you can't."

"Then it must be something like a secret that nobody will tell you," said Jangle.

"SECRET MYSTERY"

"That's it," said Baby Bunty. "Just now Uncle Wiggily came home with a secret mystery. He looked all around before he went in the cottage. I think he didn't want anybody to see him. But I did and he has the box with him."

"Then the box must be the mystery," said Jingle.

"No, not exactly," said Bunty. "I saw him bring anything?"

"Well, er—my dear—er—well, it's a mystery," said Uncle Wiggily, laughing and twinkling his pink nose. "I knew he had a mystery. Tell us, please!" she begged.

Uncle Wiggily looked carefully around the kitchen. "To-morrow," he said mysteriously. "And if the sun will make the sidewalk hot enough to fry an egg on, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's secret."

MAN IS KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Canadian Press

Kington, Ont., Aug. 26.—Andrew Bonner, forty-two, Collins Bay, was fatally injured and four others were badly injured in a head-on collision between two automobiles yesterday evening.

Those in hospital are: Cecil McMartin, Hamilton; Mrs. Harry Mah-bott, Toronto; Harry Mah-bott, Toronto; and Max Walters, Hamilton.

Dr. M. J. Morrison, who attended the injured, said they were progressing favorably. Bonner suffered a fracture of the skull and died in a hospital several hours after the accident.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

TUESDAY, AUGUST 27, 1935

Adverse planetary aspects dominate today, according to astrology. It is rather a disappointing day in financial matters. Payments of money may be delayed.

There is a promising sign for beginnings of projects, expansion of business and initiative that will develop rapidly. This is a day to start important matters of many sorts.

Judgment should be reliable while this configuration prevails, and for this reason plans may be made with more than usual confidence.

Good luck attends those who travel on the water to-day. The stars indicate a record-making volume of sightseers for expositions as well as for scenic resorts.

This is not a favorable way under which to begin new friendships, for there may be a critical and hostile attitude on the part of strangers. Young men may be unusually impetuous to both beauty and brains.

Many quarrels and dissensions may be expected among groups of various sorts. Early political ambitions will be prevalent among men of prominence.

Nervous diseases and nervous tendencies now may be widely troublesome. Many accidents may be due to lack of poise and too much haste.

Strange mysteries of the sea as well as the land are foretold. Crimes of unusual character are prognosticated. Women and children must be safeguarded.

Persons who have the augury of a year of fair fortune, but they should avoid litigation and speculation.

Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly cheerful and inclined to be over sanguine. Subjects of this sign usually are independent and inclined to follow their own devices.

Charles G. Davis, Vice-president of the United States and Immigrant, was born on this day, 1863. Others who have celebrated a birthday include Hannibal Hamlin, statesman, 1829.

YACHTS RACE IN FLAT CALM

Mintaka and Kismet Winners Over Cadboro Bay Course Saturday

By J. B. ACLAND

Taking advantage of an open day to sail off a series race deferred from earlier in the season, the stars and dinghies got under way at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, but the keeper of the winds tried his best to make this attempt abortive, for nothing could have been nearer to a flat calm than the light and varied breeze which greeted the fleet after the starting gun. So slow was the sailing, it took over two hours for the stars to complete a distance of about two miles, while the dinghies needed one hour and twenty minutes to sail a mile and a half. In consequence the judges called the race after the first round.

Five stars, Boykin (R. F. Blandy), Mintaka (W. T. Barrett), Ripple (T. Halkett), Geni (N. Blandy), Aquila (Alec Packford), started at 3 o'clock, just moving away on the starboard tack. A short beat across the bay to the beach mark left them all becalmed in turn, Boykin managing to get round one minute ahead of Geni with the others an equal time behind each other. Boykin, hardly moving, drifted out ahead, but Mintaka, Geni and Ripple with favorable puffs here and there, caught and passed her, Mintaka eventually taking the lead. It was just a drifting match for the rest of the race out to Cattle Point and back with Mintaka holding her lead, Ripple second, some way astern, followed by the others. Back to the beach mark and home the breeze strengthened enough to keep the sails full, and after two hours of flopping about on a flat sea the boats had about two minutes' sailing to the finishing line.

Mintaka finished first in 2:01.04, Ripple next in 2:05.07, Geni 2:13.15, Boykin 2:13.23 and Aquila 2:15.14. The dinghies did not do much better over their shorter course. Seven boats started, Kismet (H. Gann), Falcon (P. Horsfield), Tern (G. Campbell), Onaway (P. Hine), and unnamed boat built by H. Barnes Jr., Flattie Howard (H. Miller), and a one-rig boat owned by H. Gahan, but after taking a quarter of an hour to reach the first mark, some six hundred yards away, Kismet worked into the lead, with Barnes's boat moving into second place. The rest of the fleet drifted about helplessly, never sailing a definite course for more than a few minutes at a time. This continued to the end of the race, the finishing times being: Kismet after 1:12.28 to win, H. Barnes's boat 1:23.11, Falcon 1:42.15, Tern 1:50.58, Onaway 1:51.48.

Seattle To Have Big New Drydock

Todd Company Announces Plans For 15,000-ton Floating Drydock Which Will Cost $500,000 and Employ 175 Men

Seattle, Aug. 26.—Ranking as the largest and most important shipyard extension in the Pacific Northwest since the close of the World War, the Todd Shipyard Company announced over the week-end that work is under way on the construction of a new 15,000-ton floating drydock, as an addition to its Harbor Island plant. The new work represents an investment of $500,000.

The new drydock will be built of wood, more than 5,000,000 feet of lumber being required in its construction. A special force of 175 men has been engaged for the task. The project was announced by C. W. Wiley, president of the Todd Company.

GREAT LENGTH

The new drydock, Mr. Wiley said, will be of the sectional type, having five separate sections or pontoons, which may be operated individually or as one unit. With the five separate units placed together the drydock will have a length of 821 feet. Work is already in progress on the first two sections or pontoons.

The new floating drydock will place the Todd shipyard in a position to handle with ease all the large ocean ship overhaul, repair and reconstruction work that may develop in years to come. When it is completed, the plant will have two drydocks, each with a lifting capacity of 15,000 tons and one drydock with a lifting capacity of 2,000 tons. The 15,000-ton drydocks will be able to handle the largest merchant ships coming to the Northwest.

The present drydock of this size, also of wooden construction, is known to the waterfront as "Big Bill" and is noted for its size and efficiency all over the Pacific. When it was built, during the World War period, it was christened "Big Bill" in honor of the late William H. Todd, founder of the Todd Shipyards Corporation of New York, which owns the Harbor Island plant as well as other large shipyards on the North Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

Mr. Todd is held in affectionate remembrance by many workers in the various plants and the present drydock's name of "Big Bill" long ago became an established title in the company's organization.

"We will build the new 15,000-ton drydock so we may be fully prepared to meet all present and future maritime requirements of Seattle and other Northwest ports," said Mr. Wiley. "We expect to launch the first pontoon in September and intend to have the entire new structure of five pontoons in full operation shortly after the first of the new year."

TO FLY WORLD ON VACATION

New York, Aug. 26.—A leisurely round-the-world flight, spanning 18,000 miles of land and water, is Harold L. Parquhar's idea of a "unique vacation," he said today on the eve of his departure for "home" in London, England.

Parquhar, first secretary to the British Legation in Mexico City, was due to leave North Beach airport sometime today, with Toronto his immediate destination. He will be accompanied by Fritz Boller, thirty-eight, of Mexico City, former commercial pilot.

The globe-encircling trip officially started a week ago from the Mexican capital.

"Not a single purpose to this trip," Parquhar said, smilingly. "We're not going to try to break any distance or time records. It's a nice way to spend a vacation."

From Toronto the fliers will proceed to Winnipeg and Edmonton and up the Mackenzie River, ultimately reaching Fairbanks, Alaska. They will go from Fairbanks to Nome in easy stages and then head out across the Bering Straits.

SHIPPING PARAGRAPHS

Halifax, Aug. 26.—A Royal Canadian Mounted Police seaplane was sent out yesterday in search of W. P. Lynch of McLean's Island, missing off the Nova Scotia coast in an open motor launch since his left Lunenburg for Halifax Wednesday.

Vancouver, Aug. 26.—Seine fishing opened today at 6 a.m. in area No. 17, which includes part of district No. 1, in the Gulf of Georgia.

last year 100 boats were out on opening day and a similar number was on the fishing grounds this year.

Washington, Aug. 26.—The United States House refused Saturday to grant President Roosevelt six months' leave of absence, but will consider the Senate resolution granting an extension from October 31 to March 31.

San Francisco, Aug. 26.—Incomplete returns in the coast-wide International Longshoremen's Association balloting on handling British Columbia cargo and renewal of work agreements with employers to-day showed 1,550 in favor of maintaining the embargo and 185 against, and 1,500 in favor and 600 opposed to the renewal. These figures are from the San Francisco district only.

Seattle, Aug. 26.—Longshoremen here voted overwhelmingly Saturday in favor of continuing the arbitration award made by the National Longshoremen's Board at the end of last summer's waterfront strike, and to lift the embargo on ships loaded in British Columbia, where union longshoremen are on strike.

The vote to continue the arbitration award was 974; to discontinue, 23; to lift the embargo, 939; to continue it, 148. Dewey Bennett, Longshore Association secretary here, announced the vote.

Seattle, Aug. 26.—Laden with oil, lumber and general supplies, the motorship Penguin, of the United States Bureau of Fisheries, sailed Saturday for the Pribilof Islands, off the Bering Sea.

On her return trip from the Pribilofs she will take to her homes at Ferryville, Belkofsky, King Cove, Unalakleet, Biorok, Makushin, eighty Alaska natives who aided government employees in the annual seal hunt.

Washington, Aug. 26.—A bill requiring load lines on vessels in the coastwise trade—another of a series of safety-at-sea measures that grew out of the Morro Castle and Mohawk disasters—was passed Saturday by the House.

It was sent back to the Senate, which already had approved it, for action on an amendment giving the secretary of commerce authority in his discretion to order Great Lakes ships to have the lines of safety above which vessels shall not be loaded.

New Westminster, Aug. 26.—The dock of the New Westminster (B.C.) Dock and Forwarding Co. Ltd., a company formed about two years ago, was occupied Saturday for the first time since its construction, when the Ss. Tacoma Star was berthed there to await the first shipment of 1935 apples from the interior to the United Kingdom.

The vessel was docked at No. 4 dock of the Pacific Coast Terminal Ltd., but moved to the new dock to make room for the Ss. Zurichmoor.

There are eight deepsea vessels in port now and all docks are occupied.

CAST ASHES FROM LINER

Remains of Late Capt. G. Lapraik Buried at Sea From Ms. Chichibu Maru

The last remains of Capt. George S. Lapraik, who was well known at Victoria, in the early days and was chief officer of the Little Japanese steamship Milke Maru when she operated in the N.Y.K. service across the North Pacific in 1896, were buried at sea a few weeks ago from the bridge of the motorliner Chichibu Maru.

The Travel Bulletin, published by the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, contains the following account of the burial at sea:

"The ashes of the late Capt. George S. Lapraik were cast on the sea from the liner Chichibu Maru. Immediately after the Chichibu crossed the 180th meridian at 9 p.m. July 12 the ship's crew held a ceremony on deck and dropped the ashes with due reverence into the ocean.

"The night was so calm and the stars were sparkling so brightly that we believe the late Capt. Lapraik's spirit will be at rest in mid-Pacific for ever and ever," said a paragraph entered in the log of the Chichibu Maru by the captain.

"Capt. Lapraik was decorated by the Japanese government for his services as commander of army transports at the time of the Sino-Japanese and Russo-Japanese wars."

CAPT. LUSTIE TO BE MARRIED

Master of Ss. President Jefferson to Remain Ashore For One Voyage

When the American Mail liner President Jefferson sails from Victoria next Saturday afternoon for the Orient, Capt. Alvin O. Lustie, her regular skipper, will be missing from the bridge. He will take one voyage shoreleave, in order to be married to Miss Irene Larsen of Tacoma.

Capt. Lustie was looked upon as one of the Pacific Ocean's most confirmed bachelor-skippers. The announcement of his engagement to Miss Larsen came as a surprise. His friends along the Victoria waterfront offered their congratulations when Capt. Lustie brought the President Jefferson here last Tuesday morning from the Far East.

Capt. Arthur Ahrens, chief officer of the President Jefferson, will command the liner during her forthcoming voyage.

Capt. Lustie is one of the veteran skippers of the Pacific, although still quite a young man, despite his shock of iron grey hair. His sea career has had its quota of excitement, the highlight of which was his rescue of sixty officers and men of the Japanese freighter Kogel Maru, which was lost in the Pacific in a December gale in 1924. For this action he received the Red Ribbon Medal of Courage from the Emperor of Japan.

Empress Is Due On Wednesday

Bringing 530 passengers, including a large group of vacationists returning from the Hawaiian Islands, the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada, Capt. A. J. Hosken, R.N.R., is expected to reach the William Head quarantine station at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning.

It is believed Jimmy McLarnin, Vancouver's ex-world welterweight champion and his bride are on board the Canada, returning from their wedding trip to Hawaii.

Capt. E. Foster Hall, M.C., military attaché at Hongkong, is also on board. He is en route to England and will cross Canada to Montreal, from where he will sail for London.

There are 151 passengers in the first class, 133 in the tourist class and 186 in the third class. A large number of passengers from all classes will disembark at 7 p.m. before the liner continues her voyage to Vancouver.

DOCK FIGURE PASSES AWAY

Frank Older, Colorful Figure, Worked Ships Here Many Years

Francis Older, one of the most colorful figures along the Victoria waterfront, passed away Saturday evening at the Jubilee Hospital following a brief illness.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the chapel of the Sands Mortuary Limited, following which the remains will be laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Known along the waterfront as the "Cement King," the late Mr. Older had worked the ships calling at Victoria for the last thirty-two years. He was popular among longshoremen and ship operators, and was known to his friends as "Frank."

Born at Liverpool about sixty-two years ago, the late Mr. Older left Great Britain at an early age and spent several years wandering about the world. Later he served as a volunteer in the South African War, being awarded the Queen's and King's Medals.

Owing to the regularity of his daily walks and calls he was missed by his old friends in Victoria. It was his habit to rise early—sometimes as early as 5 o'clock—and make certain regular walks and calls each day. He was a great lover of nature and studied the habits of the birds native to Victoria, watching and often pointing their nests.

Frank Older was unmarried, and little is known of his relatives, except that he has a sister living in England.

SHIP FLEES FROM STORM

Boston, Aug. 26.—Fleeing from the path of a tropical storm that raged off the British West Indies and Bermuda, the steamer Lady Hawkins of the Canadian National Steamships, docked here Saturday fifteen hours ahead of schedule.

Captain Robert A. Clarke said he cut short the vessel's scheduled stay in Hamilton harbor, Bermuda, by eighteen hours. Twelve hours after the Hawkins sailed, the storm broke.

NEW YORK MONEY

New York, Aug. 26 (Canadian Press).—The Canadian dollar improved 1-16 cent to a discount of 3-16 per cent, while other leading currencies declined fractionally on the Foreign Exchange market to-day.

The pound sterling edged ¼ cent to 84.97½, and the French franc declined .005 cent to 46.52½ cents.
